Nothing like "good old days"

Mrs. Lenora Bird's third grade class at Cory Elementary School in Romulus, recently dressed up in the garb of the 1800's. They have been reading the "Little House" books by Laura Ingalls Wilder and had one day when they dressed up in clothes that were in fashion nearly 100 years ago. They also had a dinner menu of food items served during that time. Sharing in the fun here (from left) are Stacy Shellman, David Biro and Michelle Yanez.

Chandler, Avery win board seats

Big cuts, half-days loom in levy defeat

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Romulus Community Schools face a possible $1.5 million out in programs and services as a result of Monday's millage defeat.

Voters rejected the 8.5 mill increase by 1,733 to 1,616, the fourth time in the past 12 months a millage increase has been defeated. Approximately 22 percent of the registered voters went to the polls.

In the school board race, newcomer Wayne F. Avery and incumbent Gloria Chandler won the two 4-year terms in the three candidate race. Avery garnered the most votes with 1,858, while Chandler received 1,402 and William A. Kemp got 1,331.

"We're going to have to take a look at a lot of very painful cuts," said disheartened School Supt. James Garfield after the millage defeat.

"There will have to be cutbacks in personnel right across the board. We're going to have to take a long look at half-day school sessions and examine possible cuts in transportation."

Garfield said the school district finished the last fiscal year with a $300,000 deficit, which he explained was increased during this school year.

"We haven't the faintest idea yet what cuts will be made and my recommendations won't be given to the school board probably until July. We'll have to wait until we're audited before we can make any accurate judgments," Garfield said.

The superintendent said there is a good chance of Romulus Schools losing accreditation because they will have less than a six-hour instructional day.

The State Board of Education sent Garfield a letter Monday instructing the school district it must make up the days," he said, "on a district-wide, grade level or school building basis." He said Romulus High School and both junior highs will have to make up four days. Seven elementary schools will have to go three extra days and Halecreek and Merriman schools have to make up two days.

As in the March defeat, the absentee ballots helped in an overwhelming measure to defeat the millage, with 213 of 290 persons voting no.

In the school board race, Avery garnered the most votes in his first attempt for public office. He won 15 of the 19 precincts, Chandler won three and Kemp took one.

There was one write-in vote for Jean Voight.

Avery has been a Wayne County Juvenile Court probation officer the past seven years, and Mrs. Chandler presently is secretary of the school board.

No pay for make-up days — State

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

Last week's State Board of Education's order for Romulus School District to make up days lost when teachers called in sick may raise more questions than it solves.

Romulus Education Association President Terry Bird is very concerned because the teachers were told they have to work the make-up days without pay, while bus drivers will be paid for the extra days.

"The school district has notified us that the teachers will have to work the make-up days without pay," Bird said. "We were notified by a phone-gram Friday night."

In response, Bird notified the teachers in the association and also sent a letter to Romulus School Supt. James Garfield and John Porter, state school superintendent. It read: "REA has received notification from Romulus Community Schools in reference to the order from the State Dept. of Education to extend the school calendar."

"The association views this as a unilateral decision violating our working agreement and therefore is totally unsatisfactory."

When contacted by the Roman Sunday night, Bird said he understood five days would have to be made up, running the school year to June 23. However, on Monday Asst. Supt. Marvin Fischer said the district was contacting Porter and thought they would only have to make up four days on the secondary level (junior and senior high school).

Romulus Education Association President Terry Bird is very concerned because the teachers were told they have to work the make-up days without pay, while bus drivers will be paid.

Fischer added that three extra days would be made up at all elementary schools except two, which had just two days to make up.

Bird said the 180 required days of instruction would be finished June 16, except the state wouldn't recognize five of those days because enrollment fell below the needed 70 percent.

Vivian Wade, president of American Federation of State, County and Municipal Employees Local 64, which represents maintenance, custodial, bus drivers and secretaries in Romulus Schools, said she was notified by phone-gram late Friday night.

"I got a phone-gram from Mr. Fischer and Mr. Porter that the extra days would have to be made up and that the bus drivers would be paid for them," she said. "I'm waiting for the written communication to reach me to verify it."

Mrs. Wade said it was her understanding that maybe five days would have to be made up. If five days are required, it would conflict with the 58 to 65 Romulus School bus drivers attending the Bus Driver's Training School scheduled for June 23 in Ypsilanti.

"These classes are required by the state and all our drivers have to be there on June 23. I don't know what will happen if Romulus Schools are in session that day," she added that 10 to 15 bus drivers had to attend June 24 also to keep their training up to date.

The State Board of Education overruled Porter's request that Romulus, as well as Redford Union and Taylor, be exempted from making up the days the teachers called in "sick". Porter had agreed to the districts' request to invoke the "Act of God" clause in the state attendance law which allows districts to waive make-up days for school closings beyond their control.

School officials believe the "sick-ins" hurt their districts all the way around. One school spokesman said the teachers get paid for their "sick" day, they get paid the make-up day, the district loses state aid on days lost, and also, students are penalized by having to attend school longer into the summer.

Bird blames the current situation on 18 months of inaction by the state legislature. "For the past 18 months, they've ignored legislation in the area of bargaining and they have failed to meet their economic responsibilities to schools."

"They've had plenty of time to enact meaningful legislation, but when the Crestwood teacher firings were upheld by the courts, they seemed to let everything drop," Bird said.

A news article about schools in the May 18 Romulus Roman helped draw acknowledgement from two state legislators that the legislature had failed to meet its responsibilities.

"One of the REA teachers sent a copy of the Roman news article to State Rep. Gary Owen and State Senator Gilbert Bursley," Bird said. "He received a letter from both legislators admitting the state had not met its responsibilities in the area of school financing."

Meanwhile, another problem could arise if at least 70 percent of the students fail to show up for the additional classes. Junior Melody Trainor, a student council representative at Romulus High School, thinks the extra days penalize the kids. "The kids don't think they should have to make up the day because they were willing to come to school in the first place," she said.

"If they stay an extra week in school, it will be harder to find summer jobs and several kids have already made vacation plans they will have to cancel," she said.

Top scholars hit all-time mark in Romulus High

Nearly one-fourth of the 1977 Romulus High School graduating class are honor students, including three valedictorians and three salutatorians.

A total of 76 of the 310 students graduating at 7 p.m. tomorrow at Bowen Field House, Eastern Michigan University, Ypsilanti, are top academic achievers.

"This is one of the finest classes we've ever had," said Georgia Badgett, dean of students, "and I think the high number of honor students attests to that fact."

On top of that, there are three valedictorians and three salutatorians for the first time in the school's history. Co-valedictorians are Abigail Austin, Andrew Orgovan and Eric Moore, who each accumulated a 3.93 grade point average out of a possible 4.

Co-salutatorians Celeste Allen, Diane Martin and Robert Gierak were just a shade behind with a grade point average of 3.86.

"I've been around Romulus High School for about 26 years and this is the first time we've had three valedictorians and salutatorians," Mrs. Badgett said. "And this year's salutatorians are so smart, their grade point average is higher than some valedictorians of the past. We are very proud of all the students who have worked so hard."

Tomorrow's invocation will be given by The Rev. Fred L. Davis, pastor of the Community Church of God in Ypsilanti.

All-around senior boy Bruce Donald and all-around senior girl Kathy Bergmooser will read the names of the graduates. Diplomas will be presented by School Board President Carl Morris, who is retiring after 28 years on the board.

Principal Joel Carr, who just finished his fifth year at Romulus High School, will present the class to Morris. Director Ralph Miller will lead the award-winning RHS band in the playing of "Pomp and Circumstance" and other appropriate numbers.

Three scholars tie for top honors

For the first time in history, Romulus High School had three 3.93 out of a possible 4. "I've been around here 26 years and this is the first time we've ever had three valedictorians and three salutatorians," said Georgia Badgett, dean of students.

County board appoints 10 to Commission on Aging

John Barr, chairman of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners, has appointed 10 citizens to the 21-member Wayne County Commission on Aging.

The appointments, including six new ones and four reappointments, were unanimously approved by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners on May 19. The Commission is the chief policy-making body on senior citizens services and programs sponsored by the Wayne County Office on Aging.

New appointments include Adeline Aras of Hamtramck, Jack Zeller of Detroit, Lonnie Saunders of Detroit, Colleen Minter of Wyandotte, Patrick J. Uetz of Dearborn Heights and H. Carl Hollis, of Taylor, deputy director for Communities United for Action Inc. which is an organization helping seniors.

Re-appointments include Olga Madar, the first woman vice-president of the International United Automobile Workers and the president of the Coalition of Labor Union Women; Pat Sutton of the Michigan Department of Social Services; Emeric Kurtagh of Highland Park and Sam Panzer of Detroit.

The 21-member board is designed to give county officials a wide cross section of community input. Seven representatives must be professionally engaged in providing services to the aging; another seven must be community representatives who are actively fostering the well being of seniors; and the final seven must be senior citizens, aged 60 and over.

All appointments run through Dec. 31, 1979, except for Miss Aras and Mrs. Minter, who will be filling unexpired terms through Dec. 31, 1977, and Mr. Zeller whose term expires Dec. 31, 1978.

Gasoline vapors are highly explosive. When gas is pumped into your tank, be sure that the engine is turned off and that no one smokes inside your car. In many states it is illegal to fill your tank until the engine has been shut off. Do not restart the engine until the gas tank cap has been replaced and secured. Remember that in gasoline the use of special additives is not only necessary and wastefully expensive, but may risk your warranty coverage—with one exception. Dry gas will remove the water that invariably collects in your gas tank.

Rep. Ford battles Postal Service's planned increases

Concerned over Postal Service plans to increase first-class postage rates and eliminate Saturday mail delivery, Congressman William D. Ford of Michigan's 15th District is taking action on both counts.

Ford, ranking member of the Postal Operations Subcommittee, has introduced legislation to freeze first-class postage rates at the present 13 cents and tie any future rate changes to the rate of inflation.

"In other words, if the cost of living decreases over a 2-year period, first-class postage also would be decreased by a similar percentage amount. The cost of stamps would increase only if the cost of living increased over a 2-year period," he explained.

Ford said the bill, entitled the Citizens' Postal Rate Relief Act of 1977, is designed to protect private citizens from rapidly rising postal rates.

"Over the past six years our citizens have experienced a 117 percent increase in mail rates—a rate of increase which has climbed more rapidly than even gasoline prices," he said. "This is neither fair nor reasonable."

"My bill is based on the concept that all Americans are willing to accept some increase in postage rates, so long as they are fair and reasonable."

Ford emphasized that the freeze and the inflation-indexed future rates would apply only to private citizens; corporations, business entities and others would continue to pay whatever first-class rate is set by the Postal Rate Commission. They would be subject to criminal penalties for using the citizen rate.

Earlier, Ford and several colleagues joined in co-sponsoring legislation to block the reduction of mail delivery to five days and to change the structure of the Postal Service. The plan would disband the Postal Service Board of Governors, and require direct Presidential appointment of the Postmaster General, who now is appointed by the Board of Governors.

"Both of these bills are designed to make the Postal Service live up to its name," Congressman Ford said. "—to provide postal service, and not concentrate on making money."

Board adds 2 members

Two long-time school board members, Earl D. Gabriel and Boyd W. Arthurs, have been elected to 6-year terms on the Board of Education of the Wayne County Intermediate School District.

They replace Helen S. Field of Highland Park and Ralph E. Johnson of Gibraltar, neither of whom sought reelection. Both Mrs. Field and Johnson have served on the county board since 1953.

Gabriel, a member of the North Dearborn Heights Board of Education for 17 years and currently board secretary, is a sales representative for Science Research Association Inc. and a former Dearborn teacher. He is a former president of both the Michigan Association of School Boards and of the Wayne County Association of School Boards.

Arthurs, a civil engineer and surveyor, has been a member of the Trenton Board of Education for 14 years and currently serves as secretary. He also is a former president of the Wayne County Association of School Boards.

Both men were elected June 6 by a vote of the 36 local school boards in Wayne County. Each board cast one vote for each vacancy. Gabriel and Arthurs will take office on July 1.

The other members of the County Board are Geraldine Joyner of Livonia, The Rev. Darneau V. Stewart of Detroit and Carl W. Morris of Romulus.

Intermediate district school board members are paid $30 for each monthly meeting in accordance with state law.

TODAY'S Real Estate

by Phyliss Crabtree

Generally, mortgages on your home require the signatures of both husband and wife, and the property cannot be sold without the specific consent of both. Even if there is no mortgage, many states say that the home cannot be sold or put up as a debt security without mutual consent, unless that consent is waived voluntarily. Estate matters affect the home, too. Most likely it must pass to your spouse, no matter what your will says—unless she or he has formally given up that right of inheritance.

AT CENTURY 21 COMMUNITY REALTORS, 10675 Belleville Rd., we share your desire to sell your property quickly at the best market price obtainable. We use our experience, information and facilities to advertise your property effectively. Visit our office today or phone us at 697-2121. We are open 7 days a week from 9 to 9.

DID YOU KNOW? One right you have when your home is used as security for a home improvement loan is a three day period to think things over.

Mrs. Gallien announces candidacy

A city employee who has worked in the finance department of Romulus for 17 years has announced she is an independent candidate for the office of treasurer.

Helen Gallien, who began as Deputy Treasurer in 1960 and became finance director in 1970, has filed nominating petitions for the office.

"It is my belief that the city needs qualified people with up-to-date knowledge for the highly technical field that government has become in recent years," she said.

A graduate of Louisville Institute

'I plan to run a positive campaign all the way, basing my candidacy on my qualifications...'

of Technology, she attended the University of Louisville and currently is a volunteer worker in the field of guidance and counselling with the 34th District Court. She has also studied counselling at Detroit Bible and Madonna colleges.

"I plan to run a positive campaign all the way, basing my candidacy on my qualifications, experience and training and let the people decide on that basis," she said.

Mrs. Gallien has studied finance and accounting at Cleary College and governmental accounting at Eastern Michigan University. Presently, a member of the Municipal Finance Officers Association of the United States and Canada (MFDA), she was instrumental in the installation of the present computer system for the city accounting department and the water and sewer billing.

For this achievement, the MFOA published her notes, "Computerizing a Small City" in their 1973 newsletter. She has kept her studies current in the field of finance by attending seminars at Michigan State University in Wash. D.C. and several other major cities.

A long-time resident of Romulus, Mrs. Gallien and her mother Rose Anderson have lived at 11414 Olive St. for the past 15 years and prior to that lived at McBride and Ozga Road.

She is a member of Calvary Baptist Church of Romulus, where she teaches a Young Adult Bible Class, is a member of the choir and plays the organ. A devout Christian, Mrs. Gallien says she tries to practice daily what the Bible teaches.

"I don't have any high-powered organization behind me, I just feel I will ultimately be where the Lord wants me," the mother of four said philosophically.

Students set to show the 'finished product'

The 24 students of the Romulus High School building trades class have finished their project and now the results will be "inspected" by the public.

Last-minute finishing touches are being made to the house they've just completed at 37665 Tyler Road, between Ozga and Hannan Road. Open house is slated for 1 to 5 p.m. Sunday.

"The boys have done a really fine job," instructor Conrad Samonek said. "They started in September when school began and are now just finishing up."

The house, the third built by the building trades' class in the last three years under Samonek's tutelage, has been appraised between $48,000 and $49,000 by three firms.

'The boys have done a really fine job...'

It is ranch-style home with an attached 2-car garage. Located on three-fourths of an acre, it has a full basement and a 2-sided fireplace. The 1,420-square foot structure has 2½ baths and a first-floor laundry room between the garage and dining area.

The house is for sale and information for bidding will be available at the open house Sunday.

The first house built by the class two years ago is on Ozga, just around the corner from the newly-finished home. Last year's project was built on the lot next door to this year's house.

The boys did all the work except for subcontracting the forced air heating and excavation for the basement, Samonek said.

Samonek pointed out that the sloped, studio ceiling is a new variation this year.

"It's very gratifying to see the boys start with nothing and finish up with a beautiful house — and it's very satisfying to them, also," Samonek said.

The public is invited to attend the open house.

Committee plans July 4 program

The City of Romulus Bicentennial Committee is in the process of planning its third annual parade, community picnic and fireworks display on July 4.

Jack Trumble, chairman of the Bicentennial Committee, appeared before the City Council last week to offer its nearly $3,000 surplus to the city for a repeat of last year's events. When discovered that Mayor James Stewart had a committee already started for that purpose, Council suggested combining the two groups.

It was approved and now the 24-member Bicen Committee is sponsoring the parade, picnic and fireworks at no cost to the city.

"We had a couple meetings, trying to set up a parade," Trumble said. "The mayor said he had a committee, also, so I thought it would be best to go to the City Council and offer our services — and the $3,000."

"Everybody's welcome on this committee — nobody's left out and we want as many citizens to take part as possible."

Trumble said the more people who take part, the better the event will be. He pointed out that on July 4 a parade of floats will leave City Hall at noon, travel down Goddard Road to Five Points, where they will disburse. They'll reconvene at Elmer Johnson Park where they will eat their picnic lunches.

When it gets dark, there will be a fireworks display.

Trumble said the committee wants as many floats as possible from as many people as possible.

"We want this to be the biggest and best we've ever had," he said. "We want old cars, antique cars, antique tractors, bikes, and any other mode of transportation." He encouraged churches, Boy Scouts, service clubs, organizations and individuals to join in the fun.

"We especially need bands," he emphasized. "Because school is out for the summer, it's hard to get bands for the Fourth of July. But a band makes the parade all the better and we hope some school bands will try to be in the parade."

Trumble said horses are also welcome in the parade and he hopes for a number to be entered.

Trumble and the Bicentennial Committee is encouraging citizens of Romulus and surrounding communities interested in participating in the July 4th celebration to notify them as soon as possible.

Interested persons are requested to call Trumble at 941-3513, Donna Lee Zavitz at 728-6893 or Marge McCrory at 941-3349.

During 'national' festival

Strawberries are in spotlight in Belleville

By JIM BRADLEY
ANP Staff Writer

June is strawberry month in Belleville — and Belleville is "Strawberry Capital" of the world. This year, in addition to many acres of pick your own strawberries, Belleville will hold the "National Strawberry Festival" this Friday, Saturday and Sunday with a host of fun-filled activities.

Included in the festivities will be a strawberry shortcake eating contest between television and newspaper media celebrities and a much-heralded bicycle race on Saturday. Another feature will be tethered, hot-air balloon flights starting at 2 p.m. on Saturday and Sunday. Cost will be two cents per pound per person.

Previously held at Manistee, the National Strawberry Festival has found a new home in Belleville and from the looks of things, the annual fruit festival will make "Belleville" a household word for miles around.

This year the Belleville Strawberry Festival will be sponsored by St. Anthony's Church and the Belleville-Ypsilanti Strawberry Growers, an association of five farms consisting of 150 acres where people can pick their own strawberries.

Held on the 20-acre site of St. Anthony's, 409 W. Columbia St., the three-day festival will feature games for all, booths, casino, movies for children, moon walk, balloons, strawberry sundaes, pies and tarts.

Times of the three-day festival will run 6 to 11 p.m. Friday; 12 noon to 11 p.m. Saturday and 11 a.m. to 10 p.m. Sunday.

"This is one of the greatest things that's happened to Belleville and we're all happy to be a part of it," said Charles Paas, strawberry farmer and publicity man for the extravaganza.

Paas announced that this year's celebrity Strawberry Shortcake Eating Contest will be held at 1 p.m. Saturday with many well-known members of Press, TV, Radio and Sports World taking part.

As of the past weekend, definite commitments were received from Doug Bruckner, WWJ-TV; Charley Manos, Detroit News Columnist; Nancy McCauley, WJBK-TV; Bob Talbert, Detroit Free Press Columnist; Jim Bradley, Associated Newspapers (that's me); and David Whiting, Ypsilanti Press.

The following people said they would try to make it if their schedules permit: Warren Pierce, WJR Radio; and John Mengelt, a former Detroit Piston, who attends St. Anthony's Church when he's in town.

A perpetual trophy will be established, according to Paas, which will go to the annual winner of the strawberry shortcake eating contest.

This will be followed by an "Open to the Public" Strawberry Shortcake Eating Contest at 2 p.m. Sunday afternoon.

On Saturday, youngsters and elders alike, will assemble in the parking lot of the National Bank of Detroit Building at 12:30 p.m. in preparation for their respective age races. The race course will begin in front of Old Township Hall, down to Roys St., to Church St., to Third St., and back again to the starting line.

Several divisions will be run, including ages 8-9, 10-11, 12-13, 14-15, 16-17, adults and senior citizens. More than 100 entries have been signed up. Trophies will be awarded to all winners, and all participants will receive a prize.

A snack bar will be open every night featuring kielbasa sandwiches, pizza, etc. On Saturday, spaghetti dinner with all the trimmings will be served from 4 to 8 p.m. Cost is $3.50 for adults, $2.50 children, and 75 cents for children under five years.

On Sunday, a barbecue chicken dinner with all the trimmings will be served from 11 a.m. until 6 p.m., at the same prices as the spaghetti dinner. A jazz band will be featured from 7 to 10 p.m. Friday, a polka band from 7 to 10 p.m. Saturday and square dancing from 5 to 8 p.m. Sunday.

Campers are invited to stay at the Wayne County 4-H Fairground Campgrounds, one-half mile west of Belleville Rd. and one-half mile north of I-94 expressway. Phone number for information is 697-7671.

A Grand Raffle will be held at the Festival and winners will receive a total of $6,000 in prize money. The drawing will be held at 9 p.m. Sunday. First prize is $3,000; second prize is $1,500; third prize, $750; fourth prize, $500; and fifth prize, $250.

The Festival is expected to occur at the height of "pick your own" Strawberry season and local growers are looking forward to an excellent crop. Belleville-Ypsilanti Strawberry Growers will maintain the usual Hot-line pick your own information service on a 24-hour basis from now into early July. The Hot-line phone number is 699-2088 day or night.

Admission to the Festival is free and information can be obtained by dialing the Hot-line number, 699-2088, or by calling St. Anthony Church, 697-1211.

"Belleville — the Strawberry Capital of the World!" — sounds real nice, doesn't it?

Biking in Michigan

Meandering Mukegon: Interesting trip

(This is the fourth in a series of 15 weekly articles on bicycle touring through Michigan. These features are designed to encourage Michigan tourism and promote bicycling near population centers.)

Rolling countryside, steep hills, winding roads and the meandering Muskegon River make a 70-mile route through western Mecosta and Newaygo counties one of the Michigan's most interesting bicycle trips, according to Automobile Club of Michigan.

From Big Rapids' Ferris State College, the circle tour climbs, winds and dips along M-20 through open and heavily treed areas before connecting with M-37 and taking pedal pushers to the cities of White Cloud and Newaygo.

The terrain changes abruptly to include the Muskegon River, which traces the 16-mile southern part of the journey. Bicyclists are taken over the river's widest stretches at Croton and Newaygo dams.

The final portion is as interesting as the beginning and cyclists requiring a night's sleep can stop at one of the area's state or private campgrounds. Motels also are available at Newaygo, White Cloud and Big Rapids.

M-20 is an excellent road for riders since it is seldom used by motorists from Big Rapids to White Cloud because of its hills and hairpin curves. Three steep hills await cyclists upon leaving Big Rapids.

Once leaving Mecosta and entering Newaygo County, there are about three miles of tree-lined highway. At Woodville, a tiny community marked only by a closed service station about eight miles west of Big Rapids, the terrain becomes gently rolling until reaching M-37 north of White Cloud.

Two miles north of White Cloud on M-37 is an old frame house with hundreds of antiques and old farm machinery scattered on the front lawn. This is a good spot to stop and browse.

The White Cloud Airport is situated one mile farther south. A 15- to 20-minute pleasure flight around the area costs $5. Airplane rides are available daily from 8 a.m. until dark.

White Cloud has a well-kept city park on M-37 with picnic tables, charcoal grills and shuffleboard courts. For those wishing to camp, White Cloud State Park is located on M-20, just outside the city limits. After browsing through the downtown sections, bikers can begin the 12-mile trip to Newaygo on rolling M-37.

To enter the Newaygo area, bikers cross a narrow 2-lane bridge spanning Penoyer Creek and continue straight on Croton Road. To visit Newaygo, bikers must turn right and cross the Muskegon River Bridge.

Along Croton Road, cyclists pedal uphill a quarter mile. After conquering the trip's steepest grade, bikers can enjoy a magnificent view of the Muskegon River while resting.

Two parks are located here. Shaw Park has picnic tables for lunch breaks while the adjacent Henning County Park has space for camping, with a boat launching ramp, baseball fields, tennis courts and rest rooms nearby.

Riders must pedal eight miles over gentle to steep terrain before reaching Croton Dam, where the Muskegon widens. Croton Township Park offers overnight camping facilities.

The 8-mile stretch from Croton

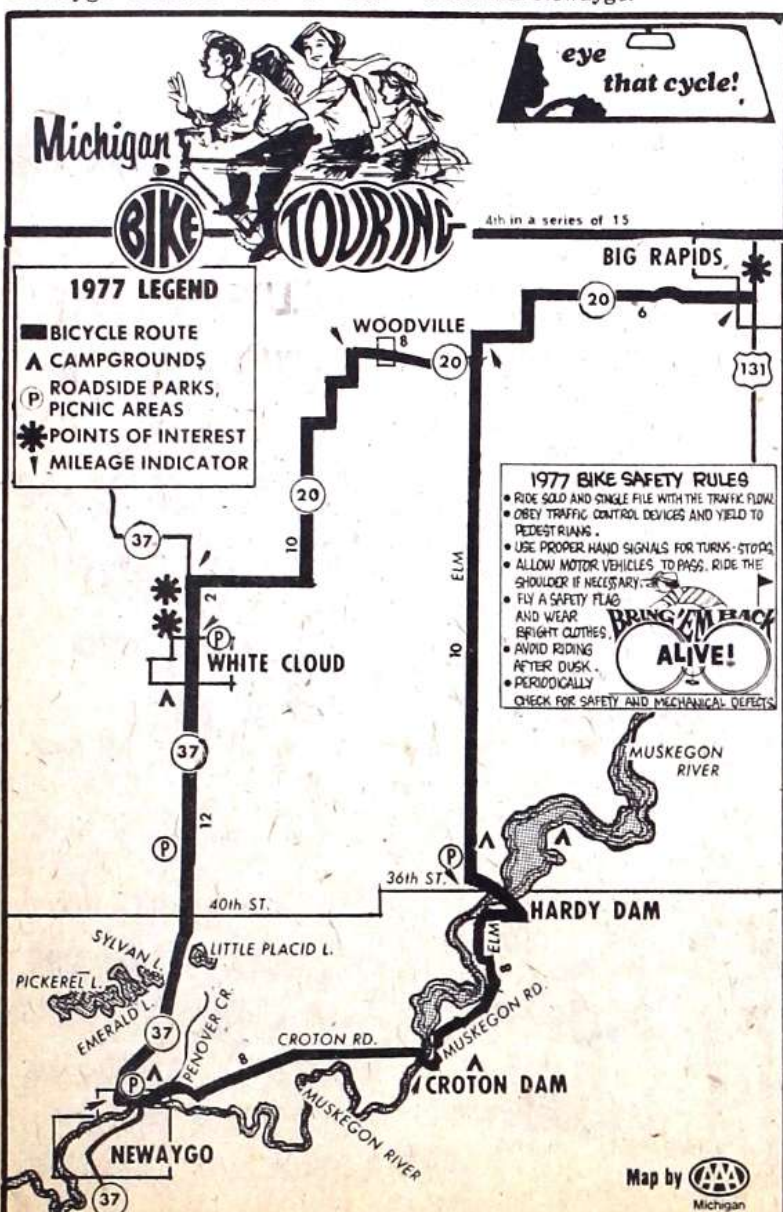

Dam to Hardy Dam is fairly hilly. Unlike Croton Dam, which must be viewed from a distance, bicyclists go over Hardy Dam. The view here is panoramic as the river widens to a mile across.

There is a roadside park immediately after crossing the dam. Campers will find 99 wooded campsites at Newaygo State Park, located about three miles from Hardy Dam on 36th and 32nd streets.

After crossing the dam, bicyclists must turn right on Elm Street. A rusted-out sign and grocery store are the only markers. Bikers travel 10 miles over fairly steep countryside to rejoin M-20 and take the final six miles back to Big Rapids. Signs directing travelers to several private campgrounds along the western edge of the Muskegon River are located along Elm.

Bicyclists should pace themselves according to their ability. The League of American Wheelmen estimates the average bicyclist can cover 35 to 50 miles a day with ease. A card and pamphlet containing bicycle safety trips are available free at all Automobile Club of Michigan offices.

A 70-mile bicycle tour through West Michigan's Mecosta and Newaygo counties travels through some of the state's most picturesque rolling countryside and offers a bankside look at the beautiful Muskegon River. The tour follows a winding course punctuated by steep, hilly terrain through the Big Rapids, White Cloud and Newaygo areas. State, county and private campgrounds dot the route with motel accommodations also available. Except for the 12-mile stretch of M-37 between White Cloud and Newaygo, most of the route is lightly traveled by autos. Main points of interest noted by Automobile Club of Michigan include Ferris State College at Big Rapids and Hardy and Croton dams in southeastern Newaygo County. At White Cloud, there is an antique farm and an airport offering airplane rides.

Centers set rules

When visiting the nature study areas of Stony Creek, Kensington and Oakwoods metroparks as well as the nature trails at other metroparks, please observe the following rules:

- (1) All natural things, living or dead, must be left where they are. Even the dead leaves are part of the environment.
- (2) Walk slowly and quietly and remain on the trails.
- (3) Bicycles, motorcycles, trail bikes, ATVs and horses are prohibited in the nature study area.
- (4) Leave all pets, radios, guns and toys in your car.
- (5) Picnicking is prohibited in the nature study area.
- (6) Place waste paper and other litter in the trash containers.

Parker completes missile repair course

Pvt. Glen R. Parker, the son of Mrs. Lois Elaine Parker of Marlowe, Belleville, recently completed a wire-guided missile system repair course at the U.S. Army Missile and Munitions Center and School at Redstone Arsenal, Ala.

Students learn to inspect, test and perform maintenance and repair on the TOW and DRAGON weapons systems and associated test equipment.

Pvt. Parker entered the Army in November 1976. He is a 1973 graduate of Belleville High School.

Navy Airman Appren. Timothy N. Obeshan, the son of Mr. and Mrs.

Robert J. Obeshan of Harris Road, Belleville, recently participated in the major NATO exercise "Dawn Patrol '77" in the Mediterranean Sea.

He is serving as a member of Attack Squadron 46 embarked aboard the aircraft carrier USS John F. Kennedy. His squadron is homebased in Jacksonville, Fla., and is operating as a unit of the U.S. Sixth Fleet.

The 2-week exercise was designed to test the ability of NATO forces to provide rapid reinforcement of southern Europe.

The exercise provided training in tactical air operations, electronic warfare tactics, antisurface operations and reconnaissance, and included a major amphibious landing on Sardinia.

A 1976 graduate of Belleville High School, Obeshan joined the Navy in February 1976.

Marine Lance Cpl. Chris E. Amis, the son of Mr. and Mrs. William E. Amis of Ransenville Road, Belleville, has returned from an extended deployment in the Mediterranean Sea.

He was serving as a member of the 34th Marine Amphibious Unit (34th MAU), homebased at Camp Lejeune, N.C. During the deployment, the 34th MAU was the force-in-readiness for the U.S. Sixth Fleet; on-call to project combined airground forces ashore, if required.

While embarked aboard Navy amphibious ships, he was a member of a U.S. Task Force which transited the Suez Canal during November 1976 and participated in the ceremonies commemorating the 13th anniversary of Kenyan independence.

During the cruise, he and his fellow Marines participated in the major Sixth Fleet exercise "National Week XXII" in the Tyrrhenian and Ionian seas, near Sicily.

In addition to Spain, Italy and Kenya, he had the opportunity to visit Egypt and France during the deployment.

He joined the Marine Corps in June 1975.

Marine Pvt. Michael J. Schuster, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J.

Schuster of Morton Taylor, Belleville, has reported for duty with the First Force Service Support Group, Marine Corps Base at Camp Pendleton, Calif.

He joined the Marine Corps in January 1977.

HCMA warns swimmers to practice water safety

With the arrival of summer weather in southeastern Michigan, Huron-Clinton metropark authorities are advising swimmers to practice good water safety rules.

Disregard or ignorance of good water safety practices ranks high in the causes of drownings. Regardless of swimming ability, a person must follow personal water safety to be safe in the aquatic environment, park officials said.

James J. Pompo, deputy director of the Huron-Clinton metropark system, and Kevin Killeen, director of safety programs, American Red Cross, Detroit, offer these water safety tips:

Learn to swim well enough to survive in an emergency.

Do not swim alone and swim only with a "buddy" who has the ability to help when necessary.

Swim only in supervised areas, such as at beaches or pools and only when lifeguards are on duty. Stay within the markers to avoid conflicts with boats.

Do not dive or jump into unknown waters.

Follow the rules established for the particular pool, beach or waterfront where you are swimming.

Do not swim long distances out from shore. Swim parallel to the shore so that if you become tired you can still touch bottom.

Know your limitations and do not overestimate your ability.

Do not try to swim long distances, either on the surface or underwater. Do not try to swim under objects such as diving rafts and boats.

If you are overheated, stay out of the water and cool off before returning to the water. Although the water temperature may not be very low, if you are overheated, it can be a shock to your system.

Stay out of the water immediately after eating. Wait long enough for digestion to take place.

Stay out of the water during electrical storms.

Do not substitute inflated tubes, air mattresses, or other artificial supports for swimming ability.

Avoid long periods of immersion and overexposure to the sun.

Watch children closely whenever they are near the water and/or in the water.

Be especially careful early in the season. At this time persons are often not in good condition as they were the previous summer. Also the cold water drains energy much faster than warmer water later in the season.

Take instructions under qualified instructors before participating in such aquatic sports as skin and scuba diving and water skiing.

Call for "Help" only when you are trouble and really need it.

Water safety is everyone's responsibility, even when lifeguards are on duty.

Do not engage in any kind of horseplay. This is dangerous and some of those involved may not be strong swimmers.

Keep all glass containers off the beach, out of the water and out of pools.

Bathing suits are light weight and designed for swimming. Long pants and other clothes are not. Improper clothing will tend to tire a swimmer very rapidly.

Respect the judgment and experience of trained lifeguards. Follow their advice and do not interfere with the performance of their duty.

When in pools become familiar with shallow and deep sections as marked. Use only the area best suited to your ability.

When at pool do not run, push or play on the deck.

Do not throw sand or other objects on the beach, at the pool or in the water.

Swimming is permitted at the Huron-Clinton Metropark beach and pool facilities only when lifeguards are on duty and when the facility is open for swimming. All alcoholic beverages are prohibited from the entire beach or pool area, and it is dangerous to swim after drinking or sometimes while under special medication. Metropark swimming areas do not include picnic facilities.

Huron-Clinton metropark swimming facilities include Metro Beach Metropark near Mt. Clemens — Lake St. Clair and olympic sized pool; Stony Creek Metropark near Rochester-Utica — Eastwood and Baypoint beaches on Stony Creek Lake; Kensington Metropark near Milford — Maple and Martindale beaches on Kent Lake; Lower Huron Metropark near Belleville — swimming pool; and Willow Metropark near New Boston — olympic-sized swimming pool.

Each site has lifeguards, bathhouse, coin-operated lockers and first aid station. Lake swimming is free, pool swimming is 50 cents per person and season ends Labor Day.

Vehicle entry permits — annual $5; senior citizen, $1, or daily, $1 — are required.

"How and When you call Long Distance can make a big difference in savings..."

Be sure you know all the ways you can save on long distance. Most people already save by dialing direct, instead of going through the operator. And, on calls within Michigan, you can save most by calling weekdays after 5 p.m. or on weekends till 5 p.m. Sunday. You save when you dial direct on out-of-state calls, too. Check the front pages of your telephone directory for the best times.

When you want to dial direct, but don't know the number, you can receive long distance directory assistance by dialing 1, plus the area code of the city you want to reach, plus 555-1212. You'll find a listing of some distant city area codes in the front of your directory. If you have any questions, just call your local Michigan Bell business office, also listed in the front of your telephone book. We're ready to help.

An editorial opinion

Handicapped legislation long over due

Two pieces of legislation dealing with improving the accessibility of parking areas for handicapped people have been passed by the State Legislature.

Under the first bill (SB282), handicapped parking spaces would be required for and limited to, those persons whose walking is impaired or who must use a wheelchair. That proposal also would provide for windshield stickers designating vehicles used by severely handicapped persons.

Anyone found in violation of this provision would be guilty of a misdemeanor and subject to parking violation penalties.

The second bill (HB 4172) would amend the Shopping Center Parking Lot Act, requiring the governing body of a city, village or township to provide by local ordinance two parking spaces specifically designated for use by handicapped persons in each parking area within their jurisdiction.

Senate bill 282 has been ordered enrolled and has been sent to the Governor.

We urge the Governor to sign this legislation into law. For two long the state has been simply paying lip service to their obligations to our handicapped. It would seem that commonsense and simple courtesy would have been sufficient to have resolved this continuing problem for the handicapped. But it has not.

Day after day we all witness the unthinking act of able-bodied people sliding their autos into reserved handicapped parking spots. And to make matters even worse, the temptation to park in those reserved spots is the greatest during times of inclement weather, the very time when the handicapped need those spots the most.

Since it is no longer possible to rely on the good intentions of people (realizing that once again it is the few that have created this problem for the handicapped), we support legislation to ensure the handicapped basis rights.

The second bill, House bill 4172 to amend the Shopping Center Parking lot Act, has been sent to the Senate Municipalities and Election Committee.

Again, we urge the quick approval of this legislation.

It is not enough to require that motorists not park in reserved handicapped parking spaces, it is necessary to require that those spaces exist in the first place.

It does not appear logical to have to expound on the reasons for the necessity of handicapped parking spots. Anyone of us on any given day have had ample opportunity to witness the abuse to the handicapper's pride when he is forced to struggle through the modern obstacle courses constructed for the purpose of conducting business.

Revolving doors do not make a pleasant day for a man in a wheelchair, nor do high curbs. If it is the right of that handicapped individual to shop freely in locations of his choice, than it is also not logical that we should condone the unreasonable obstruction of his rights.

The requirement of locating handicapped parking locations in shopping center lots does not constitute an unreasonable act.

We urge everyone to support legislation aimed toward making the life of the handicapped a little more bearable.

In working for the handicapped, the rest of us can be described as "temporarily able-bodied." We should all remember: The legislation we support today may support us tomorrow.

Isaacson benefit detailed

Letter to the Editor:

On Saturday, April 30, 1977, The Van Buren Township Police Department sponsored a Benefit for Steven Isaacson, five year old victim of cancer. About 150 People turned out for this event held at The VAN BUREN TOWNSHIP HALL.

One featured event was Sgt. Gary Holloway and his K-9 Doberman Pincher, "DILLY", performing with the K-9 Academy from New Boston which was a real crowd pleaser. Officer Paul Klein brought in from Detroit several Street Runner Cars attracting young and old alike. Officer Randy Hughes donated unlimited time, money from his own pocket and his energy into this entire event. The whole thing just became a very personal thing to Officer Hughes.

The Policemen's wives had a huge Homemade Bake Sale which was a great success. The Police Department Radar Officers checked speedometers with Radar Units for Citizens and identified Peoples' C.B. Units, bicycles, etc. with their driver license number.

The Wayne County Sheriff from the Helicopter Division landed and answered questions about the use of the Helicopter in Traffic Control and the asset it is in backing up Police and Ambulance personnel in traffic accidents and other emergencies. Private Pilots, Robert McLaughlin from Ayres Street, Van Buren, Joe Hass from Wayne Hobby Shop and Ron Gouldner from Westland donated all day and paid for the gas taking Citizens for a ride in their plane.

Resident defends landfill

Letter to Editor:

City Sand and Landfill has taken the blunt of criticism, as of late, by a group of citizens unhappy with a number of things in Sumpter Township. It is a shame that their enthusiasm and interest in our community cannot be channeled in a better direction.

First of all, not many people are aware of themany things that City Sand and Landfill does for Sumpter Township. There is a lot more to this operation than just their trucks using the public thoroughfares of Sumpter. Tony Soave, the owner, has been a tremendous asset to Sumpter Township since 1975, when he purchased the landfill.

There is a legitimate reason for this public unawareness. The good things they do for Sumpter are not done for publicity. They are done unselfishly and for the benefit of the residents. Most business places advertise and try to create goodwill in their community to draw more customers to their business to buy whatever they offer for sale. City Sand and Landfill doesn't cost Sumpter residents a dime. They offer free dumping to the residents and the Municipal DPW (Sumpter's own trash collection).

They are Sumpter Township's largest, single taxpayer. Who would make up that tax difference if they were not there??? We don't know about anyone else, but our taxes are extremely high now.

If you want to know what else City Sand and Landfill has done for Sumpter, ask the churches, the Senior Citizens, the Committees, Parks & Recreation Dept. and many more.

We don't expect everyone to agree with us and we don't condemn those that do not. We live on Sumpter Road, which is the main route used by their trucks, and the noise doesn't bother us whatsoever. The landfill on Willow Road was there long before we bought our home. We feel that those trucks have as much right on Sumpter Road as any of the other large trucks that pass through our Township.

As concerned citizens, all we ask is: weigh out the facts to see if the good points out weight the bad before we get a court case on our hands that will cost Sumpter taxpayers a great deal of money.

Elwell experience rewarding

To the editor:

With all of the current problems in our School system today, I would like to express one parent's view of true fulfillment in my children's elementary education.

For the past 6 years I have been closely involved with the parents, students, faculty members, and principal at Elwell Elementary School. The experience has been very rewarding, for I too became educated! Not book-wise but people-wise.

I learned to be included in my children's learning process. I was a real part of the job of helping them get ready for life.

With a principal like Bill Chizmar and Secretary Ruth Clift, who invite you to come in and make you feel not only wanted but welcome, it's no wonder there is a tremendous amount of cooperation between parents, students, and teachers.

Through their leadership, education, and openness I have thoroughly enjoyed belonging to Elwell Elementary School.

We will be heard

To the Editor:

We're certainly not too lazy or indifferent to your challenge on being heard as per Jim Bradley's June 8 column.

We, too, wonder whatever happened to the world we grew up in.

Having raised two children up in the grace and admonition of our Lord and after the closeness we lived and did as a family. Upon the ages of 21 years, another one almost 19 years old, it was nothing but heartaches, aggravation and finally estrangement.

We had to finally accept the fact that they didn't care for us as parents anymore, and less for their old grandparents.

We agree with Jim and his column. Keep up the good work. We need more who can stand up and be counted.

Having a church and minister to go to helps greatly. Our belief in God helps even more.

We have made our choice against immoral and wicked ways!

"I NEED A NEW FILE FOR GOVERNMENT REGULATIONS"

Health Beat

Female alcoholics

By RUSS TUTTLE
Director, Community Relations
Peoples Community Hospital Authority

There are such things

As we continued our conversation about female alcoholics, Mrs. Balinski observed, "In all of the Greater Detroit area, until just recently, there was only one half-way house for recovering female alcoholics.

"It seems," she continued, "that society has simply turned its back on women and their particular problems in this highly sensitive area."

And she continued by saying that women, for whatever reason, perhaps need professional help even more than men.

She said that women seem to indulge in a greater self condemnation following a drinking episode than do men. They just don't seem to be able to forgive themselves as readily. Instead, women alcoholics, or alcohol abusers, will say, "Oh my God, what have I done? I'm a terrible person."

A. B. Sclare, in writing about the female alcoholic, said in 1970, "Female alcoholics sought treatment after a significantly shorter duration of addiction to alcohol. Superficially, this might suggest the possibility of a better response to treatment in women alcoholics. On the other hand, the similar mean age of the two groups on referral to hospital indicates that the female alcoholics require a much shorter period of time to reach the same desperate stage as males; thus there is probably an accelerated course of illness and consequently a poorer prognosis."

There is an abundance of studies available in the literature which suggests that more women alcoholics than men alcoholics come from backgrounds of alcoholism.

Mrs. Balinski offered one possibility for this phenomenon.

"Consider, if you will," she said, "the so-called average family of one boy and one girl whose father happens to be an alcoholic.

"The boy has the ability — as offered to him by his perceived role in society — to escape from the home. He may, for example, have a daily paper route. This means that the boy is out of the house, that he is interfacing with people, that he has a father figure to relate to in the form of his station manager. He learns to make independent judgments. He keeps his books, pays his bills, and keeps his profits.

"Additionally, the boy receives tips and possibly gifts at Christmas time, and in general is encouraged to grow into normal adulthood.

"Conversely, the girl is usually locked into the very traumatic home situation. She hears the arguments, may even witness physical abuse, and generally is kept under the domination of her mother. And this is key: statistical analyses clearly indicate that most mates of male alcoholics are domineering — probably as a defense mechanism."

Sclare in his book supports this thesis. He said that significantly more females than males in his sample reported an unhappy childhood, and that "... the significant occurrence of a disturbed childhood in a number of the females is an alignment with the conclusion of Kinsey who found that many of his female alcoholics had a stereotyped background or a cold, rejecting mother, an indulgent father, and a general lack of preparation for adult roles."

Other researchers have arrived at similar conclusions. Vera Lindbeck, in 1972, said, "Loss of one or both parents at an early age was a frequent finding (among female alcoholics). Fathers tended to be unavailable due (sic) to death, divorce, desertion, psychosis, or alcoholism. When the daughter was raised by both parents, she tended to perceive her mother as the more dominant personality.

The mother was also frequently described as hostile, cold, rejecting, and a harsh or inconsistent disciplinarian. There was absence of strong attachment to either parent, so that in crises the girl turned to neither parent, but attempted solutions utilizing her own inadequate resources."

Mrs. Balinski said, "When you consider these kinds of psychiatric impairments, it becomes easier to understand that many potentially, alcoholic women reach adulthood with contributory factors toward alcoholism already integral parts of their personalities."

Two researchers, Winokur and Clayton, found that female alcoholics had a higher incidence of depressive reactions than did men. In addition, Sclare reported that significantly more females than males suffered from primary depression. He concluded that, "... some, but not all, women alcoholics suffer fundamentally from an affective illness.

Recognition of such a depressive syndrome is of value in that appropriate therapy will follow."

Flash! A softball team made up of the Romulus mayor, councilmen and department heads is seeking to avenge two previous losses.

Who to? Their secretaries, who on two earlier outings, beat the stuffings out of their stronger and bigger bosses in benefit performances for the local Muscular Dystrophy drive.

Word has it that the city administration team has gone all out to keep their two beatings out of the headlines, but as luck would have it, someone squealed.

The secretaries, some of whose team members reputedly were offered big league contracts, have a game plan and strategy that is "foolproof" in attaining a third consecutive victory.

One team member, who asked not to be named, declared, "Those bums won't have a chance this year. They might be physically stronger, but we're a heck of a lot smarter!"

As of press time, no word has been forthcoming from the training camp of the "Romulus nine", which includes Mayor James Stewart, Clerk Leonard Folmar, Treasurer John Lewkowicz, and Councilmen Bob Martin, William Oakley, Gerry Canejo and Jimmie Raspberry.

Donations from spectators will be donated to the ongoing fight against muscular dystrophy. Action will take place at 7:30 p.m. tonight (Wednesday) at Elmer / Johnson Park on Ozga Road between Wick and McBride.

No-Fault insurance to be revised Increase costs reflect more claims

Heavy criticism from the public and automobile insurance companies, along with pending decisions on the constitutionality of Michigan's no-fault auto insurance law, have prompted the Legislature to begin re-evaluating the merits and shortcomings of that law, now nearly four years old.

The Michigan law has inadvertently been looked upon with a degree of skepticism for several reasons. First, Michigan's no-fault law represents one of the first and most progressive attempts at no-fault auto insurance in the country. Second, the concept of no-fault is against our basic philosophy. That philosophy dictates that when someone does something against us they must pay for any damage they inflict. Third, no-fault insurance was implemented during a period of double-digit inflation. So, it was understandable that when insurance rates, like all costs, began to skyrocket, no-fault was easily blamed for those increases.

The intent and spirit of Michigan's no-fault auto insurance law for the most part has been met, eliminating many of the problems drivers faced under the tort system. Michigan's law compensates injured persons adequately and promptly for medical expenses, wage loss and rehabilitation expenses incurred from automobile accidents regardless of who is at fault.

In addition, the no-fault law reduces or eliminates "nuisance" liability suits for minor or non-serious claims; reduces duplication and overlapping medical benefits; reduces and eliminates the inefficiencies of the tort system such as the adversary relationship between the insurer and injured party, court congestion and litigation expenses.

Prior to no-fault it took as long as 16 months to process an insurance claim. Today, with no-fault auto insurance, the average claim is processed in 10 days with the law requiring that claims be processed within 30 days after they are filed.

However, the driver who does not file an accident claim does not experience a more efficient auto insurance process and reacts to the new law in relation to the new insurance premium he must pay. In most cases, insurance premiums have doubled since no-fault went into effect in October 1973.

It is this issue, the rising costs of auto insurance, that angers most Michigan drivers. However, rising insurance rates and no-fault auto insurance are not directly related.

Automobile insurance costs reflect the number of claims the company must make and the average cost of those claims. Consider these statistics. From 1970 until 1975 the cost of automobile repair and maintenance rose 45.6 percent, hospital care costs rose 62.7 percent and personal income rose 37.6 percent. On the average, national insurance rates since 1971 have risen some 40 percent. However, in Michigan, insurance rates rose approximately 30 percent during that same period.

While I believe no-fault auto insurance is beneficial to the public, insurance companies have identified shortcomings with the law. Some of those shortcomings concern the constitutionality of the law and will be decided by the Supreme Court in the near future. Others are being examined by the Legislature.

One issue which insurance companies oppose and say affects rising insurance costs is the provision giving unlimited medical coverage to a person injured in an accident. There is legislation before the Senate that would limit medical coverage to $200,000.

It is obvious that the benefits of no-fault auto insurance outweigh the shortcomings. Our work in the Legislature will be to concentrate on resolving those shortcomings so that the no-fault law which I believe is good, will be better in the future.

Citizens to decide on splitting Wayne County

Birth of Suburbia

I will soon be introducing legislation in the House of Representatives to allow for a referendum on the question of dividing Wayne County into two separate counties.

One county, which would continue to be known as Wayne County, will consist of Detroit, the Grosse Pointes, Highland Park, Hamtramck and Harper Woods. The remainder of current Wayne County communities (western section) would become known as "Suburbia" and upon an affirmative vote of those persons living in the area would become Michigan's 84th County.

My reasons for doing this are really quite straightforward and can be simply stated. I believe that the people and local governments of western Wayne County are not getting their fair share of county services, nor are they receiving fair representation in many of the county government decision-making processes. Recent events make it very clear to me that a trend to further dilute suburban parity is moving forward rapidly.

The recent decision by SEMTA regarding a Metropolitan Transportation system for Southeastern Michigan, which all but ignored the needs and capabilities of Western Wayne County, as well as the recent action by the Detroit dominated Wayne County Board of Commissioners transferring jurisdiction of the "super sewer" to the County Public Works Board are prime examples of this trend.

Also, Detroit's insistence on requiring the Huron-Clinton Metropolitan Park Authority to build a regional park (or give a cash grant to the city) within the Detroit city limits and to re-structure the HCMA governing board to give Detroit a significant voting block, while at the same time opposing the efforts of several Western Wayne County legislators to revise the membership make-up of the Detroit Water Board is a perfect case of hypocrisy. The city administration in Detroit is all for the "one-man, one vote" concept when it benefits them, but not supportive of equal representation when it may cost them some of their political powerbase.

And on top of all these conditions, Western Wayne County will again be asked to accept a state facility (the new prison in Northville) in addition to the many existing ones already there with no financial compensation, while Detroit gets one multi-million dollar relief grant of state aid after another.

Recent population figures show that both Detroit and the rest of Wayne County have almost the same number of residents and I feel that if we in Western Wayne County cannot be guaranteed equal political and fiscal status, we should have the opportunity to become independent of Detroit and go our own way.

I hope to have this permissive legislation introduced within the next few weeks and then conduct public hearings in the affected areas to hear what the people think about this idea.

House approves bill on restricting bail

Under our Michigan Constitution, an accused person has the right to bail except on charges of murder and the rare crime of treason.

However, after a person is convicted and is either awaiting sentencing or appealing the conviction, the defendant may or may not be released on bail. This is left to the discretion of the trial judge.

In deciding if bail should be allowed, the judge is required by law to consider both the nature of the crime and the character of the defendant and, in the case of an appeal, the questions involved in the appeal.

There have been a number of well-publicized cases in which a person convicted of a violent crime commits still another serious crime while on bail, pending sentencing, or while the conviction is under appeal.

Therefore, in the interest of public safety, the House has approved a bill which would severely restrict bail under those conditions for anyone convicted of an assaultive crime making it much less likely that such persons would be set free on bail.

However, the bill does allow a judge some discretion.

Under the bill, bail would be allowed those awaiting sentencing only if the judge is convinced by "clear and convincing evidence" that the person would be no threat to others if set free. In the case of an appeal, the judge would both have to be convinced that the defendant would be no threat to society and find that the appeal raises a substantial question of law or fact which could overturn the conviction.

The bill would require that there be a speedy bearing on an appeal if the defendant is denied bail.

Assaultive crimes cover such offenses as murder, manslaughter, kidnapping, rape, robbery, felonious or aggravated assault, intentional maiming or disfiguring, and assault with intent to commit murder, do great bodily harm, rape, rob or maim.

Conviction of this type of violent crime is, in itself, a strong indication that the convicted person is potentially dangerous. A convicted felon does and should have the right to appeal, but experience has shown that he should not necessarily have the right to bail.

The bill would substantially reduce the chance that a person convicted of a violent crime would commit still another crime while free on bail during an appeal, by requiring that there must be positive and persuasive evidence that that person is not dangerous.

A person who has already demonstrated a capacity for violence should be required to meet this standard before being freed on bail.

In addition to this shift in the burden of proof, the bill would require that appeals raise a substantial question of law or fact for bail to be considered. This provision could reduce the number of frivolous appeals filed primarily to gain the defendant's release on bail.

The bill is under consideration in the Senate. It passed the House by an overwhelming 98 to 3 vote.

The measure is supported by the Attorney General, the State Police, the Michigan Sheriffs' Association, the Michigan State Bar and the Legislative Committee of the Michigan District Judges' Association.

Meanwhile, there is pending in committee in the House an even more far-reaching proposal. It would place before voters a constitutional amendment to prohibit bail for repeat felony offenders and those charged with certain serious crimes.

It would automatically prohibit bail for those convicted of three or more grievous felonies in the previous 15 years, persons arrested for a felony while on bail from another felony conviction, and those charged with a new felony while on

By WILLIAM R. KEITH
State Representative
33rd District

probation or parole from an earlier felony conviction.

In addition, the court would have the discretion to deny bail for those charged with murder, violent rape, armed robbery or kidnapping.

If this proposal wins House and Senate approval, it will be placed on the November 1978 general election ballot.

The devil made me do it

By JOYCE HAGELTHORN

Last night my little grandson looked up at me while licking the cake spoon and said, "Grandma did the devil ever make you do something?"

"Oh sure," I answered, poking my head in the oven, trying to decide whether the box cake was done or not.

"What?" he asked.

Did you ever try to figure out how to tell your little five year old grandson all the things the devil made you do during your lifetime?

"Well tell me," I said to him after closing the oven door, "What has the devil made you do?"

Another lick on the spoon and then the huge blue eyes looked up at me and he said,

"I dumped Uncle Gunnar's teeth down the toilet."

"Oh, my god," I shouted staring at the little monster. "What has your poor old uncle ever done to you ... or the devil, as a matter of fact?"

"Don't worry, Grandma," he said. "I told the devil to get off my shoulder and I got the teeth out the toilet and put them back on Uncle Gunnar's dresser."

"Oh, that's good," I told him and patted him on the head. That's when a horrifying thought struck me. "Did you wash off the teeth?" I asked.

"Nope, and his tongue curled around the under part of the spoon."

Throwing off the dish towel wrapped around my waist I went tearing for the stairs and there I met Uncle Gunnar, all cleaned up for dinner, smiling his toothiest smile.

"Hi," he said.

"How's your breath?" I asked.

"Heh, heh, heh," he answered.

Going back to the kitchen I grabbed the little kid just as he was taking a big chunk out of the first cake I've baked in 32 years.

When his mother came in she asked where her little one was. I pointed to the table where I had him bound with a dish towel and an apple stuck in his mouth.

"Mother ... why did you do that?" she shrieked grabbing the apple out of his mouth.

"The devil made me do it," I said.

Weekend students tackle native American alcoholism

They came from as far away as Chicago, Minneapolis and Michigan's Upper Peninsula to attend classes at Wayne County Community College (WCCC) every third weekend. And they will receive their degrees at commencement ceremonies June 29, trained in a program that is the first of its kind in the nation.

"They" are the 35 native Americans in the college's Native American Alcoholism Therapist Program (NAATP) who are completing requirements for certificates and degrees in mental health work. When their classes end in August, these mental health workers will return to the cities, rural areas, or reservations where they are employed or working as volunteers with agencies that assist native Americans in dealing with alcoholism and other health related problems.

Seven of the graduates, one of whom has a 4.0 grade point average, are being considered for special admission to the graduate school of social work at Wayne State University, according to the program director, Madeline Visnaw. Approximately 15 others will take advanced courses at other 4-year institutions.

Classes in the program began in September 1975 after WCCC had received funding for the program from the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism. It was one of several 2-year grants of this kind in the nation. The NAATP Project is "exemplary" and will be used as an example for other Indian Education programs throughout the country," Ms. Visnaw said. She indicated that the program is considered one of the top educational programs in the country.

In addition to the director Ms. Visnaw, a resident of Birmingham and a Detroit native, staff members include Eugene Ironshell of Dearborn Heights and Roderick Wulff of Detroit, coordinators, and Pat DeHaeney, secretary. Both Ironshell and Wulff also are members of the training program.

Staff members had worked with American Indian Services Inc., a Detroit agency involved in planning the WCCC program along with eleven other district Indian services groups in the Midwest.

The staff of NAATCP, the academic supervisor, and an advisory committee composed of Indian representatives from the community, worked together constantly to evaluate and improve the program where it was needed.

Classes are held at the Howard Johnson Motor Lodge in Detroit every third weekend to accommodate the work schedules of the participants. Agencies which employed the class members cooperated "nearly 100 percent" by excusing them on Fridays and adjusting their work schedules to enable the employees to participate in the program.

The native Americans have been trained to better deliver alcoholism treatment and prevention services to the native American population. Skills in interviewing and therapeutic counseling, program planning, community organization and health education were provided. Knowledge of alcohol, other substance abuse, group work skills, Indian heritage and cultural aspects were incorporated into the program which provided training in mental health and mental health concepts.

The graduates will be better able to offer in-service training to regular staff and volunteers in their home agencies.

The target population, the native American, at present does not respond readily to existing treatment facilities and methods. Thus, alcoholism and its related problems and the current influx of other substance abuse problems continue to maintain an almost impenetrable hold on native Americans, the 1970 census report indicated.

Goodney to 'close book' after 36 years in education

Wayne resident Ralph Lee Goodney already has come up with two ways to "keep out of the rocking chair" after he retires from the Huron School District this month.

He's dusting off his golf clubs, plus lining up a part-time job to keep him busy several days a week, working for Eastern Michigan University in their field office.

Goodney is leaving his job as assistant superintendent of the Huron schools, after more than four years there and a 36-year career in other schools in the area. He has worked in Ishpeming, an upper peninsula city, Taylor and Romulus, and has been transportation director and attendance director for the Wayne County Intermediate School District.

One of the first loves of his life has been coaching. He played basketball and football in college, continuing his basketball play on teams while he was in the Army. In addition to coaching at local school district, he coached baseball for Henry Ford Community College. He brought the Huron High basketball team from a losing squad to winning competition.

Professionally, Goodney has earned a reputation of being tops in administration, particularly in the transportation field. He will work in transportation for Eastern after he retires, and hopes to do some counselling of bus drivers in areas of benefits and pensions.

At the Huron schools, he supervises the fleet of 32 buses and drivers, maintaining at the same time a high level of safety and maintenance.

Goodney, 59, is married to a former school teacher from North Carolina. He met Frances during World War II in North Carolina, where he was stationed. He is originally from Ishpeming, where he ran a small radio station at one time. Goodney is a graduate of Northern

RALPH LEE GOODNEY

Michigan University, and received his master's degree in education from Wayne State University.

Goodney and his wife (his nickname for her is "France") have been married for 33 years, and have spent the last 29 of those years living in Wayne, most of that time on Hayes Street.

Their son, Carl, and his wife, live near them in Wayne, and their daughter Nancy Legg and her family also live in the city. She teaches school in Westland.

"Old timers" in Wayne and Westland may remember that Goodney ran for school board more than 20 years ago and lost the race by one vote. His "good sportsmanship" prevented him from asking for a recount.

Goodney and his wife are members of the local "Upper Peninsula Club." The club membership consists of people that grew up together in the U.P. or went to Northern Michigan University together.

The couple are long-time members of the First United Methodist Church of Wayne.

Goodney will work until June 24, using accumulated leave time to take off the month prior to his July 31 official retirement date.

Consumers beware

Home repairs: Use common sense

By LINDA JOY
Executive Director
Michigan Consumers Council

Many home owners are being exposed to a flood of home repair and home improvement frauds because of their desire to improve the energy-saving capabilities of their homes.

While the Federal Trade Commission has established a special task force to police advertising for siding, insulation and other energy-saving improvements, the Consumers Council urges consumers to use common sense when dealing with home improvement and repair companies.

With a little healthy skepticism, consumers often can spot unscrupulous repairpersons by a number of common sales pitches. Some typical sales plays to watch out for include:

- The leftover material story. A repairperson offers to repair a roof or porch for an unbelievably low price with some leftover materials from another job.
- Legitimate contractors rarely order so much that they have enough material to do another job.
- The factory representative story. A door-to-door salesperson offers substantial savings on materials direct from the factory.
- Reputable home improvement companies, with the exception perhaps of summer painters, usually sell their goods through stores, not by door-to-door salespeople wandering through neighborhoods.
- The model home story. A home improvement company offers to pave a driveway for one-third of the regular price to demonstrate its work to the community.

Most reliable repair companies don't solicit business door-to-door; their reputations already are established.

— "The roof is falling in" story. A repairperson comes to the door saying the roof is caving in and needs immediate repairs. Or an "inspector" examines the furnace and says it will blow up tomorrow if it isn't fixed.

These scare tactics now are illegal under the Consumer Protection Act. If consumers believe a repairperson is using scare tactics to make a sale, contact the local prosecutor or the attorney general's office.

Consumers also should be wary of out-of-state license plates which may indicate fly-by-night operators who will skip town as soon as they get the money without doing the job.

When shopping for a home repair company, consumers always should ask for references. A company should be able to give at least two or three names of satisfied customers.

If consumers are still unsure about a contractor's reputation, contact a local consumer agency, the attorney general's office or the Grand Rapids or Detroit Better Business Bureaus to see if any complaints have been filed against the company.

It also may be a good idea to check with building supply companies and the home improvement loan manager of a local bank.

Before signing a contract, consumers should get at least three other bids. Insist on a written bid which includes a description of the work to be done, the total price of the product or service and the kind and quality of the materials to be used. A bid, rather than an estimate, will provide a firm figure of what the job will cost. Beware of companies which ask for a large down payment. Ten or 15 percent should be enough for most jobs.

Of course, consumers should understand all provisions of the contract before signing it. In general, a good contract should:

- Require the contractor to obtain the proper permits and to carry workers compensation and public liability insurance.
- State the approximate starting and completion dates and the person responsible for the final clean-up of the work site.

- Require written proof that materials, suppliers and subcontractors have been fully paid before the final payment is due to prevent claims (mechanics liens) against the property.

- Contain a "hold back" clause allowing the consumer to keep 10 to 20 percent of the payment until the job has been completed for 30 days.
- State the terms of the warranty.

By following these guidelines, most consumers should escape the unscrupulous repairperson while making their homes more energy efficient.

As an extra incentive for home improvements, Michigan law now allows home owners to make normal maintenance repairs without paying additional property taxes. As long as the repairs are under $4,000 per year for the next three years, home owners can replace furnaces; install new plumbing and lighting; and build new sidewalks and driveways without raising their taxes.

Stars is topic of cruise

"Star Cruising" is the theme of a special program to be held aboard the Island Queen excursion boat on Kent Lake in Kensington Metropark near Milford at 9:30 tonight.

Park naturalist Stephen E. Horn says that features of the summer night sky will be explored through an introductory slide show and an observation session aboard the Island Queen. Greek and American legends will be featured, as well as constellation identification. Persons should wear warm clothing for this evening cruise.

Tours start at the Boat Rental Dock and cost $2 per person. In the event of rainy or cloudy weather, the cruise will be cancelled. Advance registration required. Contact the Nature Center at 685-1561 (Milford).

County board delays vote on development center issue

Decision on a proposal to sell the vacant Wayne County Child Development Center on the open market to the highest acceptable bidder has been postponed by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

A resolution asking for the open sale failed to get the 18 votes necessary for action at the last meeting of the board under its rules for emergency consideration.

According to board regulations, a vote for emergency action is necessary whenever a committee recommendation is put before the board in less than 72 hours after committee approval.

The resolution was approved by the Public Works Committee May 31 and was put aside by the full board June 2. It will be reconsidered by the Board at its next meeting tomorrow.

In the resolution, the Child Development Center is declared surplus property, and the deadline for bids is set for July 19, a day established because it is 45 days from the time that was earlier presumed to be the first day of open advertisement.

The resolution also would require the bids to be evaluated by the County Board of Auditors and then approved by the Public Works Committee before further consideration.

Also under the resolution, a special advisory committee would be established to administer disposal of the property, subject to final approval by the entire board. The advisory team would consist of the chairman of the Ways and Means Committee and two members from both the Board of Auditors and County Corporation Counsel Office.

An open market policy would create competition for the State of Michigan, which already has offered $9 million for the 300-acre property near Northville, and is considering it for use as a medium security prison.

Since the state offer, the County Bureau of Taxation has appraised the property and established a value of more than $14 million, and the Public Works Committee has held two public hearings on the proposed sale for correctional use.

The open market plan was approved by the Public Works Committee after the hearings raised suggestions for Northville-area residents to support a bond issue to buy property for alternate purposes.

The plan was proposed by Commissioners Alex Pilch (D-DeARBorn), Thomas Presnell (D-Westland) and Royce E. Smith (D-Belleville).

Also at its June 3 meeting the board agreed to explore creation of a County Economic Development Corporation to assist local communities in creating new economic opportunity and maintaining existing economic programs.

The corporation would be governed by a board of local businessmen and civic officials that the Board of Commissioners would appoint.

Another action by the board was to approve the qualifications of nine architectural firms which are under consideration to develop a feasibility study to extend the City-County Building for centralized court space.

The board earlier set aside $25,000 for the project that would combine Circuit, Probate and Common Pleas Court services in a single location.

Heartworm threatens dogs

Veterinarians in Michigan are seeing an increase in heartworm, a life-threatening, but preventable, infection of dogs.

"Heartworm is becoming a major veterinary health problem. Until recently it was confined to the warm, mosquito-infested southeastern coastal regions. Now it has spread to the midwest including Michigan. Cases have been reported in areas near Lakes Michigan and Huron and Canada," reported Dr. Douglas C. Maplesden, an animal health researcher.

Mosquitoes are responsible for the spread of the disease from infected to uninfected dogs. The mosquito carries the immature parasitic worm which lives, develops and grows into an adult heartworm in the dog's heart. More than 60 species can transmit the disease.

"With the warm weather approaching, now is the time to protect your dog against heartworm. Concerned dog owners should have their dogs tested by a veterinarian in the spring of the year," Dr. Maplesden recommended. "The veterinarian can then prescribe a sound preventative program or treat the dog if heartworm disease is found."

If uninfected, the veterinarian will suggest an effective heartworm preventative, called diethylcarbamazine, to be given daily, starting just prior to the mosquito season, during the season, and continuing for up to two months thereafter.

"The dog is protected only for as long as he is medicated. The dog that rejects his medicine is a candidate for heartworm, the silent summertime killer," Dr. Maplesden said.

Only dogs treated for heartworms and found free of the disease, or dogs treated for heartworms and no longer infected, may be given the preventative medicine, he cautioned.

Why is the disease spreading? Some scientists say mosquitoes have learned to adapt to colder climates, while others point out that the rising mobility of American allows them to take their dogs in and out of infected areas easily.

"Whether your dog is a pointer, setter or your family pet, Fido, the message is obvious. Heartworm is as much a danger to the hunting dog or family pet in Michigan, New Jersey, Texas or Florida," Dr. Maplesden concluded.

Prestigious antique show set in Pointes

The twelfth annual University Liggett Antiques Show and Sale to be held June 16, 17, and 18 offers more than an opportunity to buy fantastic furniture, porcelain, silver, pewter and decorative arts — it offers an unparalleled chance to increase your knowledge of all antiques.

A special feature of the show will be the Eleanor Clay Ford Loan Exhibit from a collection of items Mrs. Ford has given the Detroit Institute of Arts over the past 50 years. Included in the exhibit will be the Hadley Chest, American c. 1700; a Chippendale arm chair, American 18th century; a silver 2 handled Presentation Cup with cover by Benjamin Godfrey, made in England 1737.

The Henry Ford Museum at Greenfield Village is contributing the Mitchell Map of the United States, 1755; a Baltimore Highboy and Automobile Weather vane also given by Mrs. Ford. More extras are walking tours and a slide lecture given by Dr. Robert Bishop, director of the Museum of American Folk Art in New York City, and Associate Editor of "Antiques Monthly" magazine.

The University Liggett Antiques Show and Sale opens with a gala preview June 15, 16 and 17 from noon until 10 p.m., and June 18, noon until 6 p.m. The show, located at the University Liggett School, 850 Briarcliff Drive, Grosse Pointe Woods, is sponsored by parents and alumni of the School's endowment fund. Luncheon will be served Thursday, Friday and Saturday from noon until 1:30 p.m. and the Tea Room will be open from 3 to 4:30 p.m.

The show, considered by dealers and collectors to be one of the most prestigious in the country, continues to broaden its scope by providing walking tours at 10:45 a.m. June 17 and 18, and a slide lecture at 11:45 a.m. June 18.

For reservations to the preview party, call 885-4911. The $35 per person tickets include cocktails and dinner, a sealed bid auction and an opportunity to browse and buy. General Admission tickets at $3 are available at the door.

Country-western singers sought for benefit concert

If you're a member of a talented country and western, folk or popular music group, your "big break" into the music business might be right around the corner.

The Westland Fire Fighters Benevolent Association is seeking a talented musical act to play with the Statler Brothers, a nationally popular country and western group. The show will be in October, but auditions of local talent will be held July 31, according to Fire Fighter Bob Stottlemeyer.

This is not a gong show, he emphasized. It will be the most talented and professional act that will be given the chance to appear at the Statler Brothers Show as the beginning act.

The preliminary act will not be paid, but will be given the exposure and experience of performing before possibly a crowd of 6,000 people.

Groups may audition for the spot on July 31, beginning at 2 p.m., at the Wayne-Ford Civic League, located on Wayne Road just north of Ford Road in Westland. Groups who want to audition should call Stottlemeyer between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. at 722-7065 to be scheduled.

The Statler Brothers perform country and western music, so the beginning act will be similar music, not rock.

Interested area residents will be admitted free to the auditions. A 3-member panel of judges, versed in musical talent, will select the winner. Prizes will be given to the two runners-up.

The actual Statler Brothers Show will be Oct. 2 at the John Glenn High School in Westland. According to Stottlemeyer, the Statler Brother used to be the back up group for Johnny Cash, before going solo and becoming a popular country and western group in their own right.

He said the benevolent association hopes to raise $10,000 from the show. Half the proceeds will go toward some kind of city-oriented project, he said, and the other half to the association.

The benevolent association provides financial assistance to the families of injured or killed firemen.

State's ed board draws up listing

The State Board of Education has come up with a list of 14 "critical issues" that is facing higher education in the State of Michigan.

According to the state superintendent of public instruction, Dr. William Porter, the 14 "critical areas" identified by the state board, following the meeting, were:

- (1) Community college districting and planning;
- (2) Supervision of independent colleges and universities;
- (3) Clarification of the roles of Michigan's 15 public 4-year colleges and universities and their graduate program offerings;
- (4) Supervision of proprietary occupational schools;
- (5) Off-campus services offered by colleges and universities and the external degree concept;
- (6) Teacher preparation and certification of teachers;

(7) Access to college and student financial assistance;

(8) Branch campuses operated by 4-year public institutions;

(9) Regionalization of extension services offered by colleges and universities;

(10) The concept of life-long learning;

(11) Potential declining college enrollments;

(12) Quality of education in colleges and universities;

(13) Timetable for review of proposed new programs to be offered by colleges and universities; and

(14) Creation of a postsecondary education commission that would advise the state board on higher education matters.

Outdoor teaching displayed

"Teaching in the Outdoors" is the title of a 3-week course to be taught at the Nature Center of Oakwoods Metropark near Flat Rock June 27 through July 15.

The course is especially designed for teachers, camp counselors and youth leaders. This 3-credit hour course is offered by the biology department of Eastern Michigan University. Intensive field work during the course will emphasize techniques of identification, plant and animal relationships, school site development ideas for nature study and leadership activities.

For additional details contact the Nature Center at Oakwoods Metropark at 782-1255 (Flat Rock).

'Thou shalt not exploit thy minister'

By THEREV. ALLEN JAY HOOGEWIND
Pastor
Cherry Hill Christian Reformed Church

How many hours does your pastor work? How adequate is his salary? Does he have a happy family life? Is he refreshingly creative and spiritually stimulating in his ministry? How involved are you in your church and its ministry?

As a pastor, I have heard people tell me that they think that pastors work only when they lead religious services. Jokingly, and yet with an element of truth, others have said that the Lord will keep His ministers humble if only their congregations will keep them poor. For those of us who live in the manse we are very conscious of the stereotypes that our children—pks (Preacher's kids)—are the worst ones on the block and that our ministries are dull and old fashioned. When a pastor puts a call out for participation in the life of the church, someone is certain to respond: "This is what we pay our pastor to do."

I represent thousands of ministers who believe Moses lost an 11th commandment when he came down the mountain with the 10 Commandments. This commandment reads, "Thou shalt not exploit thy minister". For the church to exist and be alive today, I am convinced that this commandment also needs to be obeyed.

"Come on Rev, hit that ball! Get a hit baby!" The pastor who plays on the church softball team and in the church orchestra, who attends city council meetings and spends hours in church and community counseling, and who is a student of the Scripture and a well informed commentator on society is only beginning to fill the expectations of his parish.

A recent survey indicates that the average church pastor works between 60 and 70 hours a week. His salary generally is in the bottom half of the median income of his congregation. The perfect image of an always loving family in the manse is often a cover up for many conflicts that comes from the many hours that a pastor spends in church work and the financial struggles of trying to manage the income to fit the needs. Accusations and cold shoulders ("roast preacher for lunch") are keenly felt by your minister and his family.

The glass house phenomena of a generation or two ago where the minister's family was always on public display has been sophisticated. The minister's wife and children are allowed to do their own thing. This "permission" is often very subtle and unconscious and generally only the violations of this so-called permission are noised about the church community.

More and more pastors are given allowances to receive more crash education classes called "1- and 2-day seminars". To be creative and up to date in ministry in our metropolitan society much more time also is needed and ultimately the ministry of your pastor needs to be shared.

The church of the New Testament was a church where everyone used the gifts the Lord gave to him or her. Working together for the Lord was a blessing God gave not only in the results that working together gave, but also in the shared ministry it provided.

Do you violate this "11th Commandment"? "Thou shalt not exploit thy Minister." Does he or she have your support and understanding? Is his salary and allowances adequate? Does he have freedom to minister? Are you sharing in his ministry and he in yours?

A pastor once wrote a note to his church board and expressed it most concisely. "Show your interest, it will help to protect your investment."

See you in church!

CPAs have some suggestions

Capital gains: How to minimize the taxes

So your children are grown and you plan to sell your home and move into smaller quarters, but that house you bought for $10,000 30 years ago now is worth $60,000. What do you do about the $50,000 capital gain you will realize if you sell?

The Michigan Association of Certified Public Accountants (MACPA) has a number of suggestions.

First of all, the CPAs say, are you sure your cost basis is only $10,000? You can add to what you paid for the house all expenses incurred in acquiring it, including legal fees, title search and title insurance costs, brokers' commissions, survey and appraisal fees.

Also, go back through your records and see if you can find evidence of capital improvements you have made, which would increase the basis and thus reduce the capital gain. A capital improvement is any permanent change that increases the value of the property. It includes not only such things as added rooms, dormers, central air conditioning and the closing in of a porch, but also new walks, driveways, storm windows, insulation and landscaping.

If you do not have receipts or canceled checks to substantiate improvement made years ago, perhaps the records can be reconstructed with old photographs or the testimony of neighbors. Improvements made with your own labor can not be added to the cost basis, except for what you paid for materials.

In addition to raising the basis, but sure not to overlook anything that will bring down the adjusted sales price. This would include not only fees paid to brokers and lawyers, but also the costs of advertising the house and any "fix-up" costs incurred during the 90 days preceding the signing of the sales contract.

A second suggestion from the CPAs, which may be applicable to a few people, is to delay the sale of the house until after reaching age 65, for then the profit on the first $35,000 of the adjusted sales price is exempt from capital gain tax. Only one member of a couple has to be 65 to qualify for this exemption.

Also, the NACPA advises, if in selecting smaller quarters you have a choice between renting and buying, it might be wiser to buy, since that way at least part of the tax on your capital gain is deferred.

(Until recently it was possible in some cases to avoid the capital gain tax on appreciated value by leaving the home to one's heirs, but the 1976 Tax Reform Act ended that provision).

To defer a capital gain tax on a home sale by reinvesting, the replacement home must be purchased within a specified interval, so careful timing of the sale and acquisition of the replacement is essential.

The CPAs also point out that you might be able to make the sale fall during a year in which you realize capital losses, so these can be used to offset part of the gain. In other words, if you have been holding stocks or other assets that have fallen in value, the year in which you sell your house might be the time to sell them.

Another possible way to reduce the capital gain tax is to make the sale of the house an installment sale, since tax is due only on the gain made during each tax year. The tax on $10,000 a year for the next five years is less than the tax on $50,000 in one year. If the installment sale delays realization of the gain until after retirement, when your income and tax brackets are lower, so much the better.

To qualify as an installment sale for tax purposes, the CPAs warn, no more than 30 percent of the price may be paid during the first year. If after following one or more of these suggestions, you still end up with a bundle of taxable income, the CPAs offer still another way to hold down the tax — income averaging. If you are eligible, this allows you to spread the income over five years, which reduces the tax rate.

And if you still are unhappy with your tax prospects, CPAs have this final suggestion: Many retired couples, instead of selling the old homestead, convert it into an investment by renting it to others, which makes maintenance expenses and depreciation tax deductible. Unlike salary or wages, rental income does not diminish Social Security benefits.

Electronic banking needs safeguards

Strong consumer safeguards should be included in legislation to govern electronic banking, Michigan Consumers Council Executive Director Linda Joy has told the House Corporations and Finance Committee.

"When I first began talking about electronic banking two years ago, most people passed it off as another 1984 science fiction story," Joy continued. "But, consumer indifference has turned to concern as people realize the Electronic Funds Transfer System (EFTS) may soon become a dominant force in the financial world, regardless of their personal feelings."

Ms. Joy testified that while there are many benefits to electronic banking, there also are many problems which must be addressed before EFTS becomes an established method of doing business.

"Consumers definitely will receive added conveniences, banks will reduce paper work and businesses will have additional financial safeguards," she said. "But these advantages must be weighed against the disadvantages inherent in the system."

Ms. Joy outlined loss of control over financial transactions, lack of choice in the marketplace, increased invasion of privacy and liability for unauthorized transactions as major consumer concerns. She recommended Michigan legislation contain provisions for liability and security of funds since technically competent persons already have proven that the magnetic strip used to gain access to the system is readable, counterfeitable and alterable.

"A person could lose an entire life savings through one or more unauthorized transactions," she said.

Ms. Joy also advocated standards to prevent invasion of privacy.

"The capability now exists for EFTS to give a person's entire financial history at the touch of a button," she said.

Since consumers generally are not model recordkeepers, she also recommended regulations which would require financial institutions to give receipts for all transactions and frequent, easy-to-read financial statements.

In her testimony Ms. Joy also asked the committee to address the issues of stop-payment, consumer choice in selecting a financial institution and monopolistic tendencies of the system.

Through Law proposal

Schools benefit from industrial growth

State Rep. Robert C. Law (R-36th District) has introduced an amendment to the Industrial Development Act that he hopes will result in local school districts sharing in the benefits of industrial expansion.

The Plant Rehabilitation and Industrial Expansion Act (P.A. 198 of 1974) allows local communities to grant a tax exemption of up to 50 percent for 12 years to industries who rehabilitate or expand their facilities.

During the exemption, cities, villages, townships and counties receive an immediate benefit from such expansion from the Industrial Facility Tax payments, but it appears that local school districts and intermediate school districts do not receive a direct benefit.

Instead of the money going to the local school districts, it is actually funneled back to the state to be distributed among the districts throughout the state to help the state meet its commitments of aid for education.

"This approach seems to have the effect of actually reducing the dollars that are spent on education by allowing this money from the general fund to be replaced with money from districts having industrial expansion taking place under Act 198," Law said. "This causes two problems.

"The local school district does not benefit as much as it could from industrial rehabilitation or expansion projects in its own district and it allows the state to spend fewer total dollars on education from the general fund."

Law's bill (H.B. 4973) provides that local school districts would be treated the same as any other local unit of government insofar as receiving benefits from industrial rehabilitation projects.

It's not too late for vegetables

This week's tips from the Garden Doctor include:
Q. What are some of the vegetables that can be sowed during June?

A. Take advantage of those empty spots in the garden where you've already harvested early crops. You can sow snap beans, beets, carrots, chard, cucumber, sweet corn, leaf lettuce, onions and parsley. During late June broccoli, cauliflower or cabbage can be seeded for fall harvest.

Q. The leaves on my tomatoes and peppers are curled. What is causing this?

A. This can be caused by sucking insects such as aphids or white flies. Check the undersides of the leaves. Adverse growing conditions such as excessive heat or drought commonly cause this too. Another possibility is herbicide damage, in which case the curling occurs most severely on the newest leaves.

Q. I often have trouble getting seeds to germinate. What should I be doing?

A. First, for best germination, use seed packed for the current year. Have the soil well-worked so the seedbed is pulverized. Incorporate the fertilizer into the soil, rather than just leaving it on the surface where it would come in close contact with the seeds. Check the back of the packet to see how deeply they should be sowed. Lastly, and most importantly, keep the seed bed moist. Covering it with plastic is one way to retain the moisture until seeds start to germinate. Remove the plastic promptly when germination begins.

Q. How can I get rid of some poison ivy that is growing on a tree on the backyard?

A. There are some sprays that will work but these sprays must be kept off the leaves of desirable plants, including the tree the ivy is using for support. Amitrol-T or 2, 4-D would be effective. If the poison ivy is growing higher than application to the top is not feasible, sever the vine near its base. Then spray all the new leaves as they grow from the root system which remains.

Milliken proposes creation of new department of energy

Gov. William G. Milliken, in a letter to legislative leaders, recently proposed the creation of a new State Department of Energy.

He proposed the 20th state department in a letter to Senate Republican Leader Robert W. Davis, Senate Majority Leader William Faust, House Speaker Bobby Crim and House Republican Leader Dennis O. Cawthorne.

The new department's mission would be to "assure, consistent with protecting the environment, adequate and affordable energy services in the state to meet basic human needs and maintain a healthy economy."

Its goals would be:

(1) To establish and provide for the implementation of a coordinated state energy policy which will effectively and efficiently balance resource development, resource conservation and resource availability with the needs of all segments of the public and of the state's economy.

(2) To develop and provide for the implementation of a state conservation plan that will establish achievable goals to assure the efficient use of existing energy resources.

(3) To ensure the provision of essential energy services within the state at the lowest rates which allow the optimum balance of adequate supply, reliability, safety, environmental protection and efficient production, delivery and utilization.

(4) To promote, consistent with protecting the environment, the early research and development of alternative energy resources in a coordinated and economical manner within the state.

(5) To effectively represent state energy policies in the development of national and regional energy policy.

(6) To provide mechanisms which allow energy consumers to utilize energy in the most efficient manner at the earliest opportunity.

(7) To establish a comprehensive state-wide consumer education and assistance program which will assure maximum consumer awareness of energy issues, maximum consumer participation in conservation activities and which will assure effective government response to consumer problems and needs.

(8) To review and coordinate the policies and activities of all other state agencies which significantly impact directly or indirectly upon the state energy plan.

(9) To serve as the principal advisor to the governor and the legislature on all energy-related matters.

"If state government fails to meet the challenge of the energy crisis, there is a very real possibility that Michigan citizens will suffer, economically and physically, more than necessary and disproportionately to the rest of the country," Milliken said in his letter to legislative leaders. "It is against this background that we must examine the problem which the energy crisis presents for Michigan and our ability to currently respond to it."

He went on to say that the state's ability to deal with the energy crisis is being impaired "significantly" by the lack of one central voice on energy matters, the duplication of limited staff resources, apparent overlapping authority and responsibility, the lack of a strong comprehensive single voice in Washington and a lack of emphasis, consistent with protecting the environment, on an intra-state production.

"The energy crisis which confronts us knows no party lines, no geographic boundaries, no economic or ethnic distinctions," the Governor said.

Meet wildlife on walk

"Interesting Encounters" is the theme of a trail walk to be held at the Nature Center of Kensington Metropark near Milford at 8 a.m. Saturday.

Park naturalist Dave Moilanen will focus the discussion around the many flowering plants and local wildlife.

The 1 1/4-hour walk is for families and individuals only. Advance registration is required.

For registration or information contact the Nature Center at Kensington Metropark at 685-1561 (Milford). Vehicle entry permits of $5 regular, senior citizen, $1 or daily $1, are required.

Utility sets up fuel saving plan

Acting on a program advanced by the Michigan Public Service Commission, Michigan Consolidated Gas Co. has become the only utility in the nation to seek state authority to implement a comprehensive home energy conservation program, including fuel-saving furnace devices as well as insulation.

The utility asked the PSC to approve its plan, which would make available ceiling insulation and fuel-saving furnace devices to its 877,000 residential heating customers on a voluntary basis.

The utility's plan is based in principle on one recently put forth by the PSC staff. Customers who participate in the program and have ceiling insulation and furnace retrofit devices installed would see an immediate reduction in their annual gas consumption, according to the PSC staff proposal.

Michigan Consolidated President Charles R. Montgomery said it will take an estimated three years to complete installation of ceiling insulation and retrofits in residential dwellings. He said the company is prepared to begin implementing the program upon receipt of PSC authorization and other governmental approvals.

"I believe this program can become one of the most direct and far-reaching undertakings the state has ever embarked on," Montgomery said. "According to the PSC staff proposal, customers should be able to significantly reduce their consumption of natural gas and lessen the impact of its rising cost."

"Implementation of the program could save billions of cubic feet of natural gas and enable Michigan Consolidated to continue to meet the requirements of our current customers while allowing us to add new essential loads."

The plan would enable participating residential heating customers to have their ceilings insulated and approved devices installed on their gas furnaces. The customers would then be able to pay back the cost of the job to the company over a 5-year period.

To recover the cost of the program, the utility is asking the PSC to approve a commodity charge which would be applicable to all of Michigan Consolidated's residential, commercial and industrial customers, a method similarly proposed in the MPSC study.

The customer's annual bill during each year of the program for gas, including the commodity charge and repayment of the insulation and retrofit costs," Montgomery said, "should be less than his annual bill would have been without the program. Once the cost of the insulation and retrofits has been paid in full, the customer's bill will continue to be substantially less every year than it would be without the program."

Some individuals will save more and some less on their annual bills under the program, assuming comparable weather conditions and heating patterns, Montgomery said. But everyone who participates in the program should experience a decrease in gas consumption.

In addition to the savings that participating residential heating customers would realize under the plan, Montgomery said the program could result in up to 27 billion cubic feet of gas saved annually in Michigan Consolidated's service area.

Based upon such estimated annual savings, the cumulative amount of gas saved over the life of the program would result in up to 188 billion cubic feet — or nearly half of Michigan Consolidated's gas sales for 1976.

This conservation gas will then be available to meet the needs of new residential, commercial and industrial customers.

"This program would result in an additional supply of gas at the lowest possible cost being made available to the state for further economic expansion," Montgomery said. "The conservation gas will cost substantially less than any alternative source of natural gas coming into the state from new wells."

Montgomery said the participating residential heating customers who have already insulated their homes will only pay for the furnace devices and no customer would begin paying the cost of insulation of retrofits until they were installed.

Under the program, Michigan Consolidated would begin surveying homes of those residential heating customers in its service areas throughout the state who desired to participate in the program and determine how much ceiling insulation a dwelling would need, the size of furnace devices required and the total cost of both.

The two devices Michigan Consolidated proposes to install on furnaces are among five the company had been testing over the past two years in the homes of its employees in the Detroit metropolitan area.

They are a small-diameter burner orifice, which increases the efficiency of a gas furnace, and a flue restrictor, which reduces the amount of clean, warm air which escapes a home through the chimney.

Preliminary results from the first year of testing showed that the two devices in combination produced an average annual fuel savings in test homes of approximately 26.5 percent while allowing the homeowners to maintain desired indoor temperatures.

Michigan State awards 'sheep skins' to residents

Degree candidates at Michigan State University include several residents of the Belleville-Romulus community.

Slated to have received their "sheep skins" Saturday were Belleville residents Sandra Bacome of Bemis Road, bachelor of arts in communications, John Day of Savage Road, bachelor of arts in accounting; John Branam of Fisher, doctor of veterinary medicine; David Duane of Edison Lake Road, bachelor of arts in accounting; Daniel McClure of Robson, bachelor of science in civil engineering; Susan Scothorn of East Huron River Drive, bachelor of arts in distributive education; Charles Skardarasy of Harmony Lake, bachelor of science in physiology, and Russell Stinehour of East Huron River Drive, bachelor of science in systems science.

The lone New Boston degree candidate was Cynthia Shropshire of Martinsville Road, bachelor of arts in elementary education.

The Romulus degree candidates were Frank Cecil of Arbor Court, bachelor of arts in Hotel and restaurant management, and Carl Williams of Goddard Road, bachelor of science in psychology.

In other collegiate news: Michele Thomas of Romulus has been named a recipient of an Alma College Honors Scholarship, according to Dr. Robert D. Swanson, president of the college.

Miss Thomas is the daughter of Mrs. Mabel Thomas of Avalon, Romulus.

Alma is a 4-year liberal arts college located in the central portion of the Lower Peninsula.

Recognized for outstanding scholarship at Schoolcraft Community College during the winter semester was Michael D. Bullard of Belleville. He had to maintain at least a 3.5 grade point average to be named to the college's Dean's list.

Rickey Lee White, the son of Melvin White of Martinsville Road, Belleville has been named to the Dean's List at Carson-Newman College for the spring semester. White had to maintain at least a 3.5 grade point average to be named to the academic honors list at the college, located in Jefferson City, Tenn.

Romulus resident William E. Anderson, the son of Mrs. Christine Anderson of Delano, was honored for his involvement in track at Adrian College during his freshmen year. The accolade was made during the annual banquet honoring the spring sports athletes.

4-H nets Digest's funding

The Wayne County 4H Youth Program has been awarded a $500 grant through the Readers' Digest Foundation.

The funds will be used to provide a partial scholarship for 4H Awareness Teen members are David Cook, Liz Bujak and Connie Cook, all of Belleville; Penny and Perry Strautz of Plymouth; Crystal Wilman of Westland; and Robin Crowell and Sandra Brown of Romulus.

The 4H Awareness Team presents informative programs and displays on issues relating to health at malls, to fraternal organizations and service groups throughout Wayne County. This past year they have been active in presenting programs related to arthritis.

In Washington, team members will acquire skills which will improve their ability to effectively participate in publishing 4H urban programs and health awareness projects.

The eight team members will have the opportunity to visit historic sites in Washington and learn about the functioning and structure of our government.

The Awareness team members also will gain knowledge on understanding community issues, the role of youth in the community, and community dynamics.

Kebabing it

Kebabs are an international favorite — although called by many different names throughout the world. These meat cubes can be grilled outside or oven broiled while Vegetable Rice cooks ever so quickly with packaged enriched pre-cooked rice and frozen vegetables. (Photo courtesy Minute rice and Birds Eye 5-minute mixed vegetables.)

Sumpter Day group to hold bake sale

SUMPTER — A bake sale will be held from 10 a.m. to 5 p.m. June 18 in front of the Snack Shack at the corner of Sumpter and Willis Roads. The event is being sponsored by the Sumpter Day Committee which will use proceeds for the July picnic and parade. Two decorated cakes will be raffled off at 5 p.m.

BELLEVILLE — The Belleville Area Senior Citizens Club will hold its regular meeting at 6:30 p.m. June 16 at Edgemont Elementary School. There will be no meeting the following Thursday, June 23.

ROMULUS — A general membership meeting of the Romulus North Little League will be held at 8 p.m. June 15 (tonight) at the Romulus City Hall's Community Room. All interested parties are welcome to attend.

ANN ARBOR — The Ann Arbor Ostomy Group will have its monthly meeting at 7:30 p.m. June 16 at the Senior Citizens Guild, 502 W. Huron Street. The speaker will be a representative from United Surgical.

BELLEVILLE — The La Leche League of Belleville-Van Buren will meet at 7 p.m. June 21 at the home of Kristina Dawson, 155 E. Columbia Avenue. One of the areas to be covered will be nutrition and weaning. There will also be a demonstration and helpful information on making your own baby food. Those attending are invited to bring their favorite nutritious snack recipe to share. The continuing series of informal meetings is open to all women interested in breastfeeding. Babies are always welcome. For further information, call 697-1774, 697-9546 or 699-9824.

BELLEVILLE — The Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce will hold its board luncheon meeting at 12 noon June 16 in the conference room of Bonanza Restaurant in Lakewood Shopping Center. For reservations, call Leona at 697-7511, the Chamber office.

BELLEVILLE — The Belleville Bicentennial Committee will sponsor its Second Annual Stamp

Bouree from 10 a.m. to 6 p.m. on June 18 and from 12 noon to 6 p.m. June 19 at the Masonic Temple, 515 Main Street. Proceeds will benefit the Bicentennial Horizon Park and the publication of a history of the city of Belleville. Parking will be available on Main Street and in the NBD lot on High Street.

BELLEVILLE — Bingo is played each Wednesday at St. Anthony's Parish. Games begin at 6:30 p.m. in the Fr. Foltz Building adjacent to the church on W. Columbia Avenue. The public is invited to attend.

SUMPTER — The Sumpter Day Committee continues to meet the second and fourth Thursdays of the month at 8 p.m. in the Community Building at Sumpter and Wear Roads. The committee, an off-shoot of the Bicentennial Committee, is involved with formulating plans for the July 16 Sumpter Day festivities. All interested citizens are invited to attend the meeting.

BELLEVILLE — Overeaters Anonymous, Belleville Chapter, meets each Thursday at 7:30 p.m. at the First United Methodist Church of Belleville. For further information, call 697-7445 or 487-9339.

BELLEVILLE — The TOPS Club of Belleville (Take Off Pounds Sensibly) meets every Wednesday at the Belleville United Presbyterian Church, 11190 Belleville Road. Weigh-ins begin at 6:45 p.m. and meetings at 8 p.m. For further information, call Helen Girard at 697-4370.

BELLEVILLE — Weight Watchers conducts two classes each Thursday at Trinity Episcopal Church, corner Belleville Road and Venetian Avenue. Terry Morris is lecturer for the 5 p.m. session while Martha Stavros leads the 7 p.m. class. Weigh-in time is one-half hour before each meeting. Call 622-6566 for further information.

BELLEVILLE — Bingo games are held each Wednesday morning with lightning sessions at 10:15 a.m. and regular games at 10:45 in the Van Buren Township Hall on Tyler Road. Sponsored by the Van Buren Recreation Department, the program is open to the public.

New officers installed by WOTM

The Women of the Moose held installation of new officers and chairmen June 4 with Collegian Dolores Gilbert as Installing Regent; Collegian Fern Koeppe as Installing Guide and Collegian Betty Willis as Installing Chaplain.

Annabelle Sobolewski is the new Sr. Regent; Mary Frazier, Jr.

Graduate Regent; Patricia Lorbek, Regent; Celia Aldrich, chaplain; Helen Jacobs, recorder; Dorothy Roberts, treasurer; Marian Minthorn, sentinel; Georgetta Levesque, argus and Martha Morton, pianist.

Chairmen installed included Fern Koeppe, star recorder; Sally Jones,

The Gourmet route -- put it on a skewer

Americans call it shish kebab. The Russians call it shashlik. In the Middle East it's just kabob and in France it's a brochette. Whatever you call it, it's meat cooked on a skewer with vegetables which are both tasty and pleasing to the eye.

A "natural" accompaniment to the kebab is Vegetable Rice. You won't need a salad or second vegetable, because there are vegetables with both the skewered beef and the rice. At first glance, Vegetable Rice seems a bit intricate but it's actually very quick and easy to make with Minute rice and frozen 5-minute cook mixed vegetables.

To make the kebabs, try marinating the refrigerated meat cubes in your favorite salad dressing. The dressing helps to tenderize the meat. And you'll find that cherry tomatoes hold up much better than tomato wedges while the kebabs are being grilled or broiled. Round out your menu with fruit for dessert — fresh strawberries from your own garden or the local farm stand — a perfect choice.

Vegetable Rice

1 package (10 oz.) frozen 5-minute cook mixed vegetables
2 tablespoons finely chopped onion
2 tablespoons butter or margarine
1-one-third cups water
½ teaspoon salt
Dash of pepper
1-one-third cups packaged enriched pre-cooked rice

Prepare vegetables as directed on package; drain. Saute onion in butter in saucepan until tender but not brown. Add water, salt and pepper and bring to a boil. Stir in rice. Cover, remove from heat and let stand 5 minutes. Add vegetables and mix lightly with a fork. Makes about 4-½ cups or 6 servings.

In the community

By Mrs. Joseph Spring 699-4021

Mrs. Spring back after 3 months absence

The staff of the Belleville Enterprise and Romulus Roman extend a hearty "welcome back" to our faithful correspondent, Mrs. Katherine Spring, who has written news items of residents in the about Belleville for "more years than she can remember."

Due to illness and hospitalization and an eventual convalescent period with her son and daughter-in-law, Herb and Beth Spring in Plymouth, Mrs. Spring has been out of circulation for the past three months.

She (and we) wish to thank a very dear friend, Beatrice Boldt, who took over reporting "In the Community" news during her absence.

Mrs. Spring would greatly appreciate having people call their news into her at 699-4021 anytime before the 2 p.m. Thursday deadline.

On Saturday, June 4, Douglas Ketchum of Allegan, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Ketchum of Harmony Lane, received his Juris

Doctor degree at Wayne State Law School Convocation held at Rackham building in Detroit. Douglas passed his bar examination in May and now has a position as Assistant County Prosecutor of Allegan County.

The Ketchums served a luncheon at their home on Saturday in honor of Douglas and his wife, Judith. Others present were sons, Tom from Kalamazoo, Karl from Westland and Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Biederle of Frankemuth, parents of Judith Ketchum.

Paula Dolph of Pittsburg, Pa., was a recent weekend guest of her parents, the Albert Dolphs of Edgar Street.

Edinburg, Texas, joined them for a visit.

The family of Mrs. D.W. Ross (Irene), Mr. and Mrs. F.D. Ross and daughter, Lisa, of Quirk Road and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ross of Lansing, held an open house on June 4 at her home at 359 Liberty Street from 2 to 4 p.m. in celebration of her 83rd birthday.

Bunny Hardy recipient of Woman of the Year accolade

Members of the Huron Valley Chapter of Ypsilanti, American Business Women's Association (ABWA) heard a talk by Orville H. Tews, RN director of nursing service at Wayne County Acute Care Hospital. "Nursing and the Importance it Plays in our Lives" was his topic during the meeting June 2 at Nickerson's Restaurant in Belleville.

Tews graduated from Marquette University School of Nursing with a BSN and attended the University of North Carolina Graduate School and received his dual master's degree in nursing education and community mental health nursing. He said that Wayne County Hospital services deals with acute and critically ill patients all the way through extensive services. He showed slides depicting the many roles people play in the nursing profession and the many services available to people at Wayne County Hospital such as: intensive care, surgery, emergency, hemodialysis, pediatrics, orthopedics, OB gyn, outpatient ambulatory care center (plans for the future) and infection control in nursing.

Mrs. June Smallwood gave the vocational talk. She is a registered radiological technologist who graduated from Washtenaw Community College with an associate in arts degree and now she works for Dr. Arnold D. Charnley, an orthopedic surgeon in Wayne.

Mrs. Bunny Hardy has been elected "Woman of the Year" by the Huron Valley Chapter of the American Business Women's Association (ABWA). Mrs. Hardy is a department clerk for the Ypsilanti Ford Motor Co.

Today thousands of business women are being helped by the broad educational programs of ABWA. They are informed of new business techniques, and have the opportunity to meet women from all fields of business. Members gain increased confidence by administrative experience acquired in association activities. They are encouraged to continue their own formal education and, through national and local scholarship programs, they assist thousands of women seeking advanced education.

Over $975,000 in scholarships were awarded by ABWA chapters throughout the country during the past year. The Association's national educational fund, the Stephen Bufton Memorial Educational Fund, provided an additional $185,000 for students last year, placing the amount awarded since its inception over a million dollars. Huron Valley Chapter currently, is sponsoring scholarships for Mary Ann Ricleman attending Madonna College and Rae Lyn McKinnon, attending Western Michigan University.

Mr. and Mrs. William Henderson and their neighbor, Mrs. B.P. Hopson of Belleville Road, were dinner guests Tuesday evening of the former's daughter and husband, Mr. and Mrs. Glenn Little of Westland. The occasion was in celebration of the first birthday of the Little's son, Ronald.

Mrs. Juanita Akers of Liberty Street and her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Warner of Westland, returned home June 6 from Leesburg, where they had spent several days with the former's son, Roy and family. They also attended graduation exercises for Mrs. Akers' granddaughter, Teri, June 3 at James Madison High School in Vienna; Teri being the daughter of Roy Akers.

Miss Mary Lou Jones and her mother from Flat Rock (guests of Mrs. Velma Kulzer of Liberty Street) along with Mrs. Muriel Bearance, Mrs. Ruth Miank of Liberty Street, Mrs. Ada Sager and Marvin Meerse of W. Columbia Avenue enjoyed dinner together on Sunday of last week.

Mrs. Muriel Bearance of Liberty Street was a special guest of Mrs. Lillian Bernhardt of Liberty Street at a luncheon of the Sunshine-Dorcas Circle of the U.M.W., held at the Methodist Church, June 8.

Salad luncheon closes club year for garden buffs

The Huron Valley Garden Club held its final activity for the year, a potluck salad luncheon, at the home of Mrs. R. Lynn Hamilton of Huron River Drive, Belleville.

The affair was co-hosted by Mrs. Fred Flavell who also installed the new officers: Mrs. James Kause, president; Mrs. Thomas Books, vice-president; Mrs. Paul Holman, secretary; Mrs. Dale Kaulitz, corresponding secretary, and Mrs. John MacDermid, treasurer.

MISS WALKER

LHS grad earns BS in Kenosha

Alexandra P. Walker, the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Abraham Walker of 24205 Karr Rd., Belleville, received her bachelor of science degree in biology May 22 during commencement exercises at Carthage College in Kenosha, Wisc.

Miss Walker is a graduate of Lincoln High School.

Awards for perfect attendance were presented to Mrs. John Gras, Mrs. Adger Wall, Mrs. Rodney Mast and Mrs. Earl Smith.

It has been a tradition for the club to provide flowers for the Belleville High School graduation. This year, floral arrangements were provided by Mrs. Gras and Mrs. Mast, assisted by other club members.

Home tour slated in Marine City

The Civic Women's Club of Marine City is sponsoring its Second Annual Home Tour on June 26, from 1 to 5. Marine City is located on the beautiful St. Clair River and its history is steeped in the building of the wooden ships which plied the Great Lakes around the turn of the century.

Some of the historical homes, dating from the shipbuilding period are included on the tour.

The pride of Marine City is Heritage Square centered by a restored City Hall and band stand where tickets for the home tour can be obtained on June 26.

For additional information please contact chairpersons, Ms. Alma Belle at 765-8416 or Ms. Margaret Danneels at 765-8345.

Past Matrons honor K. Spring at lunch

The June meeting of the Past Matrons' Association of Belleville Chapter No. 73, Order Eastern Star, was held at the Hillside Inn in Plymouth on June 2.

Present for the 12:30 luncheon were 16 members and two guests, Anita Nicholson, Worthy Matron, and Beth Spring. The occasion was a belated celebration of the birthday of Katherine Spring.

The table center piece consisted of a kettle of garden flowers interspersed with Bicentennial half dollars, a gift from the group, arranged by the president, Eva Luper.

All present enjoyed a delicious meal and an hour of visiting. A "get well" card was signed for Ruby Clayton, who has had knee surgery.

The next meeting will be a picnic at the home of Edna Florian, 29 Liberty Street, on July 14, at 12:30 p.m.

Robert E. Dillon now attempting Appalachian Trail

Robert E. Dillon, a junior at Belleville High School, was the speaker at the monthly meeting of the Kum-Joyn-US Class of the First United Methodist Church of Belleville.

Robert is a backpacker enthusiast and is all set to cover, on foot, the famous Appalachian Trail from Springer Mountain in Georgia to Mt. Katahdin in Maine — a distance of some 2,050 miles.

He explained why he is attempting a venture that only some 70 people have successfully completed in the 50 years the Trail has been officially established. The hike is the same one another Belleville man, Eric Ryback, completed a few years ago. Robert also answered questions and explained in detail the purpose of each item carried in his 45-pound backpack.

For over a year, he has been doing a variety of after-school odd jobs to finance his trip. The very day after school was out, he flew to Atlanta, Ga. to begin his trek.

On Tuesday, June 7, Cora Bradshaw of Bedell Street joined her friend, Violet Willard of Plymouth and together they attended a 12:30 luncheon and meeting of the Clark-Lang Past Matron's Club held at the home of Evelyn Jensen in Dearborn Heights.

Mrs. Mary Chapman of Belleville Road returned home last week from Little Rock, Ark., when she had been a guest of her niece, Maurice Fuller, for two weeks. While there Mrs. Chapman's brother, Virgil Barber of Recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Guy Ransom of West Huron River Drive were the former's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Ransom of Naples, Fla. They were enroute to their summer home at Gilbert Lake in Wisconsin.

Callers Tuesday at the home of Mrs. Joseph Spring of Liberty Street were Nancy O'Berry of Fenton and Barbara Bliss of Moline, Ill., daughters of the late Paul and Lydia Clark, former Liberty Street residents.

Recent guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Ketchum of Harmony Lane were their niece, Nancy Niemann, and friend Steve Palmquist of Cincinnati, Ohio; Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Ketchum of Allegan; Tom Ketchum of Kalamazoo and Karl Ketchum of Westland. Other guests were the senior Mrs. Ketchum's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Edward Brender and family of Livonia, and a brother, Richard Brender of Plymouth.

Mrs. Harold Klaiss of River Rouge was an overnight guest last Saturday of her friend, Mrs. Clayton Saunders of Liberty Street. Mrs. Klaiss had recently returned from a trip to Hawaii.

Weekend guests over the Memorial Day holiday at the Haggerty Road home of Mr. and Mrs. Steve Lochli were their daughters and sons-in-law, Rosemary and Dale Wells of Chicago, Ill. and Monica and Frank Filipczuk of Mt. Clemens.

Harold Rediske

"How do I Give Comfort to the Terminally Ill?"
It is usually best to maintain the same closeness you have shared in the past. Your contacts with the person should be of the same type as they were in the past — a phone call, short visit over coffee, a personal note — whichever was your manner of contact before you heard of the illness.
If making a personal call seems too difficult, perhaps a short note indicating "Word has come to me that you are ill. Please be comforted that you are in my thoughts and prayers."
Silence can often be interpreted to mean indifference to one who is ill. A simple note of concern and love makes an opening for a personal call at a time convenient to the sick person. That personal visit will surely prove a comfort to both parties!
And finally, that personal visit should be made just as you ordinarily might make. Don't change your personality or behavior — rather "Be yourself." Bring new or items of interest into the conversation, all in a way to show you care.

Pam Fabera is bride

Former resident marries at Hale Catholic church

A rainbow theme was chosen by Pamela Stella Fabera for her May 28 wedding day. Exchanging vows with Kelvin Gary Stone, the former Belleville resident carried a colonial arrangement of white daisies, baby's breath, ivy and carnations which matched the colors of her attendants' pastel dresses.

The daughter of Mr. and Mrs.

Robert M. Fabera of Swartz Creek, Pam appeared in a creation of organza and lace. The gown was styled with an illusion yolk enhanced with lace medallions on a ruffled lace pinafore bodice which featured a high lace collar. The full clear sleeves and skirt were both trimmed in matching lace.

Her illusion veil was caught to a little crescent headpiece of the same lace.

St. Pius X Catholic Church in Hale was the setting for the 3:30 p.m. wedding at which The Rev. John Tupper presided. Lorraine Spencer of Skidway and Brian Phelps of West Branch were organist and soloist, respectively.

Preceding the bride up the aisle were her matron of honor, Mrs. Julie Thompson of West Branch in pale blue; and her quartet of bridesmaids, Kathy Miller of Hale in pink; Cindy Kennedy of Prescott, the bride's cousin in light green; Karla Stone of Prescott, the bridegroom's sister in pale purple, and Missy Clayton of Hale, the bride's cousin, in yellow.

The bridegroom's niece, Onalee Cordes of Hillman, wore a white frock and daisies in her hair for her role as flowergirl. The little basket she carried was filled with a mixture of daisies.

David Fabera, the bride's cousin from Hale, carried out the duties of ringbearer.

The bridegroom, the son of Alex Stone of Tuscon, Ariz. and Mrs. George Gallinger of Prescott, Ariz., asked Gary Vansickle of Flint to serve as best man. Groomsmen were Barney Lomason of Skidway; Bill Lomason of Prescott, Mich.; Ken Stone of Twinning, and Rich Clark of Prescott.

A reception honoring the newlyweds was held at the Hale Community Hall.

The new Mrs. Stone graduated from Belleville High School in 1975 and now works in the offices of Dr. William McCadie and Dr. David Toeller at the Hale Clinic in Hale. Her husband, a 1972 alumnus of Whitmore Prescott High School, is a truck driver for Central Michigan Transport in West Branch.

The young couple, who are making their home in Whitmore, spent their honeymoon in Northern Michigan with plans for visiting Colorado and several other western states in the fall.

Grand Ole Opry prompts vacation

Now that their 4-H sponsorship days are behind them, Mr. and Mrs. Christian Fischer of Bemis Road, Belleville, are taking life a little easier and seeing some of the country.

Just recently, with Mr. and Mrs. Maynard Dixon of Whitmore Lake, they journeyed to Nashville, Tenn. where they joined Mr. and Mrs. Charles Parker of Tulsa, Okla. who awaited them at the Continental Inn.

June 3 and 4 found the three couples front and center at both evening performances of the Grand Ole Opry and afterwards at several night clubs where various country music stars were appearing. Among the celebrities they saw were Stonewall Jackson, Roy Acuff, Jeanie Pruitt, Barbara Mandrill, Skeeter Davis, Tennessee Travelers and the Square Dancers.

The Hermitage, home of former President Andrew Jackson, and the Country Music Hall of Fame were also on their itinerary. Upon bidding adieu to the Parkers who were returning to Tulsa, the Fischers and Dixons traveled to Mammoth Caverns and then home.

Plans have already been made by the three couples to meet at the Grand Ole Opry again in 1978.

By cup or pot — make coffee $$ count

Homemade coffee is still a good beverage buy. The recent severe price rises for all forms of coffee, however, have made it all-important to use good coffee-making techniques to ensure that every ounce of coffee brings the maximum possible enjoyment — and the minimum waste.

According to home economists at General Foods Consumer Center, good coffee-making begins with choosing the right coffee for your taste and your coffee-making method and then brushing up on your brewing techniques and storage methods.

Perking Up Your Coffee Skills

Today it's possible to buy a wide variety of coffees blended and ground for particular coffee makers, such as automatic drip machines and electric percolators.

While extraction of coffee flavor and coffee "solids" is somewhat more efficient with drip and fine grind coffees, many people prefer perked coffee for that inviting "wake up" aroma that wafts through the house. For perked coffee, regular grind remains the best choice, or use a variety specially made for electric or range-top percolators. Grinds finer than regular will produce more sediment in the pot which often leads to pouring that last half cup down the kitchen drain — and no one can afford to give the sink a "coffee break" these days.

While an added filter in the basket might hold back sediment from finer grinds in some percolators, with many pots the result is "flooding." When this happens, liquid does not flow through the grounds for proper extraction; water fills up the basket and washes grounds up over the top and into the beverage. This can occur even with the tight-fitting basket cover, which comes with most percolators.

Carefully check your perking time; maximum flavor is developed by perking between 5 and 8 minutes. While a heavier brew might result from perking longer, more of the bitter oils are extracted, resulting in a less-than-pleasing coffee. Burnt flavor will also develop and the "aromatics" will also be removed or destroyed, according to coffee experts performing technical research for the Maxwell House Division of General Foods Corporation. If your coffee maker has a setting for strength however, set it at the stronger end of the range and adjust amounts of water and coffee to suit your taste.

It's vital to check your measuring techniques against those recommended for your pot and your own cups or mugs. Using a rounded tablespoon, a pound of ground coffee yields 60 cups; at one level tablespoon about 80 cups are obtained. With a "standard" coffee measure (2 level tablespoons) one pound will make 45 cups.

In general, coffee-making directions are based on the use of six ounces of water per cup of coffee. (After perking however, because grounds retain some water, the yield is about 5½ ounces of brewed coffee per cup.) Some percolators and drip coffee makers have water measure indicators based on different amounts, such as 5 or 5½ ounces. Check these measures against your own cups, which could run anywhere from 5 ounces up to 8 to 10 ounces for many mugs. You may find you are using more coffee or less water than you really need.

Start with a sparkling clean coffee maker, since oil and sediment which cling to the pot may impair flavor. Also, for best flavor always use freshly drawn cold tap water for brewed coffee, freshly boiled water for instant or freeze-dried.

Best extraction results when you use at least three fourths of the pot's capacity unless you own a coffee maker which has a specially designed basket allowing flexibility. In loading baskets for percolators or drip pots, take care to distribute the coffee evenly, not letting it mound up on one side.

And even if time is limited, take that moment or two after perking or dripping to assure that all the brewed coffee has come through the basket and won't wind up dribbling down the sink drain instead. But do remove the basket shortly, so that steam won't continue to steep the grounds and release bitter or burnt flavor notes.

Leftover Coffee — Waste Not!

When using ground coffee, it's best to plan to make only the amount of coffee you'll use right away, but don't despair if you find yourself with a cup or two extra. If your automatic pot has a "keep warm" setting, use it for a maximum of one-half hour. Beyond that time bitterness can develop and you also risk loss by evaporation. Better to let the coffee cool and gently re-heat later.

Leftover coffee can be refrigerated for up to 24 hours without much loss of flavor. The cold coffee can be gently re-warmed (but never boiled) or that coffee can be added to freshly brewed coffee. But do not use the leftover coffee as part of the water to brew the new pot.

Store with Care

Vacuum-packed coffee last almost indefinitely before opening and soluble coffees also have along life unopened. But once the seal is opened gradual flavor loss begins.

Coffee should always be stored tightly covered; check your canister for airtightness if it's your habit to transfer ground coffee from the original container (about 40 percent of homemakers do). Stored in the coolest place in your kitchen (not near the range) not much flavor will be lost up to two weeks — perhaps a bit less if your climate is humid or your kitchen extremely warm.

For storage beyond that time (up to 6 to 8 weeks) the refrigerator is recommended, but only if you follow certain precautions. Reseal the container tightly and refrigerate at once after removing what you need. If you allow the coffee to stand out at room temperature, the colder surface of the coffee can condense moisture vapor from the air. The increased moisture content of the coffee will hasten staling. Soluble coffee can also be stored in the refrigerator, following the same precautions, and will last about two months without too much loss of aromatics.

With freezing, opened ground and soluble coffees will last up to six months, but again, the same "quickly in and out" rule is all-important.

Once brewed, coffee grounds should never be dried and reused. Not only will the flavor of the brew be drastically impaired, but a potential safety problem could occur since the temperature and moisture levels involved are ideal for mold growth.

Moose Lodge sets June enrollment

The Loyal Order of Moose Lodge 934, will hold its next enrollment on June 18 at 6 p.m. All members are urged to attend. A fine meal will be served and dancing will follow.

Belleville's fine ritual team will go into international competition when they travel to Jacksonville, Fla. for the Moose convention on June 27.

The softball team, which is tied for second place in the Moose league, will play at Dearborn Heights on June 18.

Two bowling teams attended the Moose International Tournament at Indianapolis on June 11 and 12. They were captained by Mike Grubbe and Lee Jacobs. Results will printed later.

LIFE AND HEALTH LECTURE EVERY WED. AT 7:30 P.M.

During village fest

Muzzle loaders ready to fire away

Muzzle loader buffs are practicing their strange, but true sharp-shooting preparations—such as chewing on strips of linen and rubbing beeswax and beef lard on their bullets—as they ready for the 23rd annual Muzzle Loaders Festival at Greenfield Village Saturday and Sunday.

Often sporting waxed moustaches or full beards, these devotees recreate the craft and skill of old-time riflemen, and don the course garb of the frontier, showing in minute detail the life-style of young America during the Civil War.

Hundreds, many accompanied by their families, will gather at Greenfield Village for pistol, rifle and cannon competitions. The festivities begin at 9:30 a.m. Saturday with a parade starting at the village gatehouse and at 9 a.m. Sunday with a full inspection of revived military units on the Village green. Shooting competitions continue each day until 5 p.m.

The prime attraction will be the firing of antique weaponry and their replicas in various types of competition. The weapons will be muzzle loading pistols, muskets and rifles, all firearms that are loaded at the muzzle, or front end of the barrel.

The participants' preparations begin days or weeks ahead of the competitions. Some will trim fat of fresh beef, boil it slowly for hours and then skim off the light residue from the top. Then they add one part beeswax to two parts of the remaining lard to make a lubricant. It is rubbed into the grooves of the bullets.

Others will be seen standing on the firing line with a piece of linen hanging from their mouths, slowly working moisture into the fabric. Then a small square is ripped from the cloth and tamped into the barrel with the lead ball, lubricating the barrel through the addition of moisture.

The participants say that at relatively short range, the muzzle loading weapons can be nearly as accurate as their modern counterparts. But old-fashioned weaponry, far more than modern weaponry, relies on human factors.

The individual must decide how much black powder to put in the barrel and how tight to pack it. Each decision can affect the range and accuracy of the firing.

Riflemen usually make their own bullets, measure the amount of powder for each firing, and place it in small cardboard tubes in advance. The bullet is then wedged in the top of the tube.

When the go-ahead is given, the rifleman pulls the bullet out of the tube with his teeth, dumps the black powder from the tube into the barrel and then rams the bullet into the barrel. Some will ram it down just once, while others will ram it several times.

Riflemen at the festival will fire at targets 50 or 100 yards away, and participants in the pistol competition will shoot at targets 25 or 50 yards away. Cannon shot will be fired 150 to 300 yards. Although the weapons lack the firing speed of modern firearms, a good rifleman with a muzzle loading rifle can accurately fire about three shots a minute.

Throughout the weekend a gunsmith, powder horn carver, bullet molder and knife maker will demonstrate skills once essential to the frontiersman and soldier. In addition, a Gatling gun, the rapid-firing forerunner of the modern machine gun, will be shot on Sunday.

In contests resembling frontier fashion shows, Village officials will judge competitors' costumes for authenticity. Besides costumed sharpshooters, there will also be Indian squaws and frontier women.

The festival is sponsored by Greenfield Village in cooperation with the North-South Skirmish Association and the National Muzzle Loaders Association.

There is no additional charge for the Muzzle Loaders Festival beyond the regular Greenfield Village admission.

Meadow Brook set for arts exhibition

The courtyard and grounds of Meadow Brook Hall will be the setting for nearly 100 artists when they display their works for "Art at Meadow Brook". The art show and sale is scheduled from 10 a.m. to 5:30 p.m. for Saturday and 12 to 8 p.m. Sunday.

Michigan and out-of-state artists are participating by invitation from the sponsor group, Creative Council, an organization of professional artists and craftsmen.

Among the various media represented will be graphic arts, painting, batik, weaving and fibers, pottery, stained glass and blown glass, jewelry, leather work, photography, serigraphy, woodworking and carving.

According to the council, they selected Meadow Brook Estate — on the campus of Oakland University — for location of the art event because "it is one of Michigan's most splendid beauty spots and is a superb setting for display of fine creative talent".

Meadow Brook Hall has recently been designated as one of the state's historic sites.

Artists will be present to answer questions, and some of the craftsmen will demonstrate their skills.

Admission to "Art at Meadow Brook" will be 50 cents per person, and that amount will be subtracted from the fee for touring Meadow Brook Hall, if art patrons want to visit the 100-room mansion.

Hilberry Theatre prepares playbill for '77-'78 season

With its 1976-77 theatre season barely over, the Hilberry Repertory Theatre of Wayne State University already has firmed up its seven productions for next year's playbill.

The Hilberry's 1977-78 season of seven productions will include works by writers from Shakespeare, Moliere and Shaw to Thomas Wolfe and Robert Bolt, and the production of a new play, according to Leonard Leone, director of the theatre.

The Hilberry will be dark this summer to allow redecorating and renovation of the theatre and reorganization of the training program prior to the arrival of the 1977-78 repertory company in September.

The theatre will reopen Oct. 7 with "You Never Can Tell", directed by Robert Emmett McGill. The Shaw comedy had a limited 6-week run this past spring, playing the capacity or near-capacity houses, and will continue in the '77-78 repertory through December.

The new season will be formally introduced to the theatre's contributing Sponsors at the President's Preview of Moliere's "The School for Wives", directed by Robert T. Hazzard, on Nov. 11. The official public opening of this classic French comedy, never before produced at the Hilberry, is scheduled for Nov. 16.

Shakespeare will be represented in the season by revivals of "Romeo and Juliet", directed by Richard Spear, first performing Oct. 21, and "A Midsummer Night's Dream", directed by Robert Emmett McGill, joining the repertory March 3.

Coming from the modern theatre will be "Look Homeward, Angel," Ketti Fring's dramatization of Thomas Wolfe's novel, directed by N. Joseph Calarco (beginning Dec. 9), and "Vivat! Vivat Regina!", Robert Bolt's version of the power struggle between Mary Steart and Queen Elizabeth, directed by Robert T. Hazzard (starting Jan. 27).

Announcement of the final production, which will be added April 14, will be made later, to allow for the possibility of producing a new script or a play not yet released at this time. This production will be directed by Richard Spear.

This will be the 15th Hilberry Theatre season, performed by a repertory company of outstanding graduate students selected from across the nation. The company, which next year will include about 15 returning members and 30 new members, will perform in alternating repertory over a 30-week season from October through May, with two dark weeks during the holiday season and one during the first week in April.

Brochures with further details about the plays, performance schedule, and tickets will be available later in the summer and may be requested by calling 577-2972 or by writing to: Wayne State University Theatre Box Office, Detroit 48202.

HELP assists 'Walk'

On June 4, the Walk For Mankind took place in several communities. This writer took part in the walk that was held in Dearborn Heights.

A local group of CBers from the HELP Organization were on the spot to assist the Dearborn Heights and Dearborn police along with the walkers in any way they could. The time that was donated by these people was much appreciated and as told to me by Gene Skarupinski, secretary of the Dearborn Heights Jaycees, "We couldn't have handled this on our own. We didn't have enough manpower. Luckily the estimated 10,000 people didn't show up. We have our hands full now."

The walk itself was in the planning stages for the past seven months by Ted Easterly and Gaylon Bandy of the Dearborn Heights Jaycees, along with many other people, with the intent to raise enough money to send to foreign countries to help the needy children.

There were approximately 1,200 people of all ages participating in the walk. One man decided to do it a little different and jogged the entire 22-mile route in under four hours. He kept such a fast pace that he arrived at the checkpoints as they were being set up. When asked for his name he declined, saying he wanted no publicity.

As the people arrived at the Dearborn Youth Center, which was the starting point, they were signed in and given a tag to wear which would be marked at each checkpoint and turned in at the end of the day. There were 15 check-points in all. I was positioned at No. 15, the last one. It was totally amazing to see how many people actually were determined enough to make it through the entire 22 miles. The walk started at 7:30 a.m. and finished at 5 p.m. that evening.

At each checkpoint there was water and doughnuts along with first-aid kits for the walkers. There were some injuries reported such as blisters, cut feet and one broken ankle. The ankle injury was not a result of the walk, but instead happened when (recording star) Sean Cassidy arrived and a young lady was pushed in the crowds while attempting to obtain an autograph. Communications between the CBers and police departments was well maintained on Channel 7. The CBers kept a steady pace of running to checkpoints to relieve people already on duty, keeping supplies on hand at the checkpoints and keeping a crew of "Weary Walker Wagons" on the roads. The purpose of the Weary Walker Wagons was to pick up any people who felt they could not complete the 22-mile stretch. I myself joined in on this activity and found it to be very rewarding.

The Dearborn Heights police must be highly commended for the team effort they put forth. The streets along the route of the walk were heavily patrolled all day and traffic was directed accordingly. Communications were kept with the CBers in a joint effort to prevent any mishaps. Because of the co-operation on both parts things ran quite smoothly.

The base of communications between both parties was set up at the Dearborn Youth Center and was well maintained all day by Craig Woods (Tiger Shark) and Bob Isaacs (Motivator). Thanks guys, a job well done. One other base in the Dearborn Heights area was manned continually from 6:30 a.m. until 5 p.m. by Dwight Schwarze (Sour Kraut) who did a fantastic job keeping communications running smoothly and keeping the channel clear.

As I sat at Checkpoint 15, which was located at Southfield Freeway and Hubbard Drive, a stray dog came up to us panting. We gave him some water and he continued on his way down the route of the walkers. Later that afternoon I saw him still walking enroute to the Youth Center. I wonder if he got credit for putting in his 22 miles?

I talked to Sheryl Pazner, one of the participants and asked her how she felt as she approached Checkpoint 15. Her answer was "tired". Another walker, Connie Clements, said the walk was "alright".

At 5 p.m. all walkers who did not finish the route were held back at the checkpoints so that they could be picked up and taken back to the Youth Center. By 6 p.m. everyone was accounted for and Walk For Mankind was over.

Wills: The last word in life

By MAUREEN BEATTY

"But in this world, nothing is certain but death and taxes".
Ben Franklin 1789

Although uncertain as to the number of years we'll spend on earth, we can direct the disbursements of our worldly possessions by the making of a will, allowing us some control over the certainty of taxes and death, and even better, a chance to voice an emphatic word at last.

Richard Weinburg, a Wayne attorney, was kind enough recently to talk to me about the importance of wills. I left his office enlightened by the following information.

Many people neglect the making of a will because of their fear of Probate Court. But all estates, with or without a will, must go to probate. Anyone, with any kind of property, (home, bank account, bonds, stock, etc.) should consult a lawyer as to his or her need of a will. The only time a will might not be necessary, is when there is only one child, and everything is to be left to that child. But even then a will can speed the sale of property, shortening the time in probate.

With a will, expenses such as doctor bills, funeral costs, lawyer fees, etc., can be settled quickly. Without a will, bills may go unpaid until assets are liquidated. When a man dies without a will, his widow receives one third of his property, and the children two thirds. The widow is allowed one year free rent, providing the home is paid for, and a widow's allowance of approximately $7,500 for one year, or until the estate is settled. With or without a will, probate decides who will get what part of the deceased's assets, notifies all who are named in the will, and names the administrator or executor of the estate. A will simplifies these proceedings.

Rather than make a will, people have entered into what is called "Joint Tenancy". Two fictional stories help illustrate what can happen under such circumstances.

(1) A man and wife add their son's name to all their holdings, secure in the knowledge that their property will automatically become his at the time of their death. At the time of the husband's retirement however, the couple decide to sell their home and move out of state. To their surprise the son refuses to sell, leaving their dream plans unattainable.

(2) A widow with four children adds her oldest son's name to her holdings, instructing him to divide her estate equally among the four at the time of her death. But the son, angry at the other children for real or imagined slights to the mother, decides not to share the estate with his siblings. A law suit is entered.

A will can be used to direct the administrator in such things as burial, the disposition of personal items, and the kind of service wanted.

The writing of a will therefore, may not be the most pleasant of tasks, but certainly one of the most important.

A Westland resident, Richard Weinburg graduated from Wayne Memorial High School in 1951. He received a degree in graduate literature from The University of Michigan in 1955, and a degree in Law in 1958. Mr. Weinburg, who feels, "our community is blessed with good attorneys", has practiced law in Wayne since December 1958.

VA administrator proposes increase for pensioners

Almost 73,000 Michigan veterans drawing pensions would get a 6.7 percent increase in their benefits if draft legislation submitted by the VA to Congress becomes law.

Max Cleland, administrator of Veterans Affairs, submitted the proposal to Congress last week just one week after he proposed a 5 percent increase for veterans taking training under the GI Bill.

The proposed pension increase would become effective Jan. 1. Nationwide the program is estimated to cost an additional $131.2 million for the nine months in fiscal year 1978, and a 5-year cost of $789.1 million.

Also included in the proposed pension increase would be 9,000 Michigan widows and children of deceased veterans.

Presently these two benefit programs cost the VA $105 million in Michigan each year. Under the proposal parents of deceased veterans receiving service-connected dependency and indemnity compensation would also receive a 6.7 percent increase, and an increase in the air and attendance and housebound rates. There also is a recommendation to increase the income limitations under the protected pension law.

Pensions are for veterans who become disabled not as a result of military action and is based on annual income.

The impossible dream

Like Don Quixote, the famous champion of lost causes created by the pen of Cervantes, Inkster's Warren "Baby Blood" Foster is preparing for his last bout. His dream is to beat Sugar Ray Leonard, an Olympic gold medalist. Whether the two will ever meet in a ring, only time will tell.

The Sports Meridian

'His last fight'

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

Like Cervantes' Don Quixote, that champion of lost causes, Inkster's Warren "Baby Blood" Foster is mustering up his strength for "that last fight."

Foster, a 36-year-old professional boxer who makes his home in Inkster when he's not doing his daily 50 miles of road work, wants a crack at middleweight Sugar Ray Leonard, one of the U.S. boxers who won a gold medal at the Olympics in Montreal in 1976.

"This is going to be my last fight," says Foster as he rhapsodizes with a punching bag at Inkster's Malcolm X Center. Seated alongside the imaginary ring are Foster's wife, Zoretta, and one of their two children, Loretta, 2.

At 36, most boxers have long hung up their gloves and taken to the docile life of dreaming of past glories. But, like Quixote, Foster apparently doesn't know when to quit.

The 6-2, 158-pound native of Ypsilanti keeps punching away at the sturdy bag — what he'd do if the bag punched back is only speculation.

"Don't you think it's time for your husband to forget about boxing?" I asked Mrs. Foster.

"He's doing what he loves best, so I'm not going to stop him," she replied.

Undeniably, Foster appears to be in shape to take on anyone — he still moves with quickness, and the sounding echoes made from his gloves hammering the bag are deafening. Scurrying around the bag, Foster could be heard muttering, "I'm pretty, just like Ali."

The latter, of course, referred to Mohammed Ali, the reigning heavyweight champ of the world.

And what did he mean, "He's pretty just like Ali?"

"Take a look at my face — I don't have a cut or scratch on me," replied Foster, "When I go into the ring I'm pretty and when I come out I'm pretty."

Did he ever make the money Ali has?

"If I had his weight, I'd be up there, too," Foster answered as he jabbed at his shadow. "I know what to do with these," lifting his gloves to his chest, "but, I just started too late."

When did he get his start and where?

Foster said he was born April 12, 1941, in Northwest Detroit and in his early teens his parents moved to Ypsilanti where he attended but dropped out of Ypsilanti High School.

"I've always loved to box and I learned most of my trade at the Brewster Center in Detroit," Foster said. Though he said his trainer was Jimmy Lewis of Detroit, Foster said that most of his road work and training are unsupervised.

"But I run about 50 miles a day and a lot of that is back-peddaling because I got to stay in shape."

How did he ever get tagged with such a name as "Baby Blood?"

"My trainer gave it to me," Foster continued. "You see, when I go into the ring I go in there to hurt somebody — I go in there to see blood."

"You know that gloves cut easy and that's why people call me 'Baby Blood'."

Foster said he has had about 36 professional fights — "and I don't have a cut or a scratch on me."

That may be true, however, no one, not even the Michigan Boxing Commissioner, Chuck Davey, or his colleague, Ron Holmes, has ever seen "Baby Blood" fight.

In fact, Holmes pointed out that his files don't list a professional boxer by that name.

"He isn't licensed to box in Michigan," Holmes said, "and, if he is fighting Leonard, he's the only one that knows about it. I wish he'd come down here to get his license so that we can get a line on him." Maybe this just may be Foster's "last fight."

The pages of the newspapers crumbled as you touched them. The dateline announced: June 23, 1937 — nearly 40 years ago.

And the banner headline heralded the beginning of a new boxing era:

DETROIT BOY CROWNED CHAMPION OF FISTIC WORLD.
That Detroit boy — and, boy, would the NCAA have fun with Regional upset

Wayne '9' knocked out of state playoffs

By TOM MOORADIAN
Sports Editor

A relatively unknown Allen Park sophomore southpaw and constant rains manufactured what experts consider the upset of the Class A state baseball series as Wayne Memorial was jarred from the playoffs 3-1 last Saturday at Wyandotte Memorial field.

Wayne, a semi-finalist last year and the reigning Great Lakes 8 Conference champ, ran up against a calm pitching Steve Vaughn in the finals and managed to get only three hits in losing the tournament-ousting decision.

Vaughn intimidated the Zebras after giving up a run in the first inning and settled down to strike out 10 and walk seven. He got his chance to win the regional championship after the Jaguars surprised Livonia Churchill 9-7 in the semis.

Wayne qualified for the finals by shutting out Detroit Northern 3-0 behind pitcher Don Johnson's three-hitter.

The loss to Allen Park was Wayne's seventh in a record-setting 25-7 season. This year's team had won more games than any other in the school's long history and also won more league games (12-2) than any league team in the four year history of the conference. The previous best in the league was 10-4.

"We have nothing to be ashamed of," said Coach Jim Chronowski. "This is definitely the finest team in the school's history as evidenced by its record. Unfortunately, we just couldn't get the hits in that last game."

Allen Park will advance to the state semi-finals on Saturday at Grand Rapids. The Jaguars will take a 13-10 record with them.

Pat Bledsoe, who wound up a superb athletic career at Wayne, was tagged for the loss against the Parkers. He finished the year with a 7-2 record.

Allen Park got to the rugged Wayne hurler for two runs in the first inning when the Jaguars collected two of their four hits. Bledsoe gave up a one-out single to Bill Miller who scored on Jim Doyle's triple, tying the score at one-all.

Doyle scored what proved to be the crucial run when Dan Ciszewski sacrificed.

Allen Park scored an insurance run in the bottom of the sixth as Doyle got his second hit, a single, stole second and raced home after two successive throwing errors.

Bledsoe managed to strike out nine and walked one.

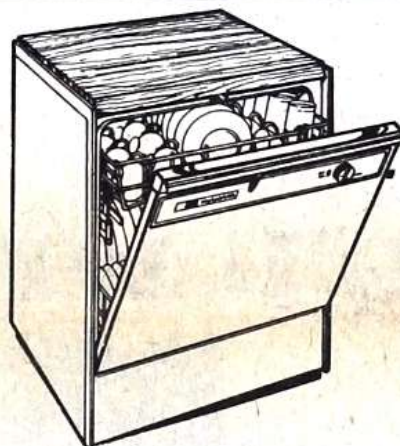

Wayne got on the board first as Jerry Smart led off the game with a walk, was erased by Doug McGill's forceout, Bill Crews then singled McGill to third and he scored on Johnson's groundout. Crews proceeded to steal second but was stranded when Vaughn got Jim Canfield to groundout.

Wayne exploded for three runs in the fourth to shatter Northern's dreams of a regional title. In that inning Crews started off with a double, his second hit of the day, then Johnson walked and Canfield singled home Crews while Johnson stopped at third. Bledsoe then laced a two-run double to account for what proved to be the last runs of the game.

The Detroiters could muster only three hits off of Johnson who brought the curtains down to an outstanding season. The 6-2, 170-pound left-hander fanned 12 and walked two in winning his ninth games in 10 outings.

Losing pitcher Tommie Ambrose went the distance, whiffed nine batters and walked four.

Year to go

Finishing eighth in the two mile at the state finals, Wayne Memorial's Rick Blaha will be considered one of the distancemen to beat when the 1978 season rolls along. The 16-year-old junior was clocked in 9:29.0 at the finals held recently in Flint.

Apalled by poverty

Romulus' Long leads U-D to Dominican tour victory

John Long, former Romulus High cage great, and the University of Detroit All-American forward candidate led a balanced Titan scoring parade on the 1977 Dominican Republic Tour with 56 points in three games.

That gave Long an 18.7 point average and also helped him receive unanimous consideration for the All-Tournament team.

Long and another former area all-star, Dave Niles, of Garden City West cage fame, were named to the All-Tourney team, along with Frank Prats (Naco-Fordham), Hugo Cabrera (San Lazaro-East Texas St.) and Hector Baez (San Lazaro-Fordham).

The Titans won the Second Quadrangular International Basketball Tournament in the Dominican Republic by downing Naco, San Carlos and San Lazaro, the three top-ranked club teams in that country.

U-of-D accomplished the feat without the services of All-American candidate center Terry Tyler of Detroit Northwestern who remained at home after his mother's recent death.

The Titans swept past second-ranked Naco 112-82, riddled third-ranked San Carlos 102-85 and disposed of the national champion, San Lazaro 96-89.

The latter team was the U-D host for the trip which was coordinated by Peoples in America.

Though Long enjoyed the competition, he pointed out that the wide-spread poverty appalled him. Though Long enjoyed the competition, he pointed out that the wide-spread poverty appalled him.

"I saw kids picking up food," Long said, "it was sad. However, they were happy to have us there and the fans kept following us around."

Niles added that "the friendship they showed also stood out. It was at first real fun, at secondly, interesting because we were playing different kind of competition.

"But the food was sure different," Niles said. "All of it made us appreciate what we have in the United States."

Also making the trip were two other former area All-State cagers: Kevin Kaseta of Livonia Franklin and Ron Bostick of Romulus.

Kaseta found the Dominican Republic natives "very outgoing."

"Even though we didn't speak the same language and had trouble communicating," Kaseta said, "we understood them. They are an outgoing, gregarious people and the experience was a cherishable one. The food was different, but the scenery on the Caribbean is really memorable."

Bostick enjoyed the elegance of the consulate's home, Glen Price, where the Titans were entertained Saturday evening.

U-D staged nearly two weeks of 30-minute practices prior to departure and then gave some informal clinics in Santo Domingo while staging one full-scale practice session.

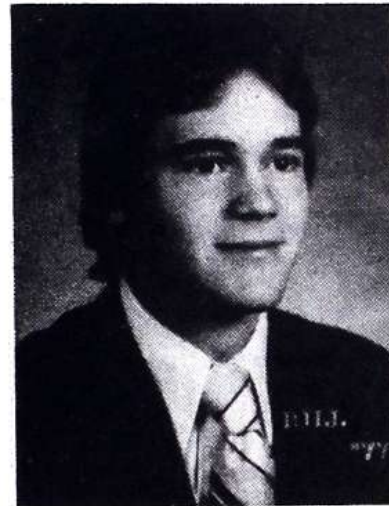

The Dominican Republic teams boasted more than a handful of quality USA collegiate players such as Prats and Baez of Fordham, Cabrera of East Texas State and the Milwaukee Bucks (eight round choice in 1976) and Winston Royals of Adams State — all members of the country's national team.

Sportscasters' scholarship is awarded to Wayne senior

An 18-year-old Wayne Memorial High senior was awarded one of the several Detroit Sports Broadcaster Association's scholarship last week.

William Philip, the recipient of the scholarship, says he'll use the $750 to help defray the costs of attending the University of Michigan, Dearborn, where he plans to major in engineering.

A member of the National Honor Society, Philip has competed in junior varsity and varsity baseball and had earned three letters in basketball.

WILLIAM PHILIP

"I have learned self-discipline and responsibility through sports," Philip told the broadcasters' association. "I have learned the meaning of self-reliance since my father died when I was three years old."

"And I have tried to be helpful to my mother through the years and to make her proud of me," Bill said.

The award was presented to Philip, and several others at the Sports Broadcasters' Luncheon at the Detroit Press Club on June 8.

Commercial's, Canejo share Romulus lead

With the second half of the season just around the corner, Commercial Carriers and Canejo Trucking remain deadlocked for first place in the Romulus South Little League.

Canejo ripped Commercial 14-7 in its first meeting, climbing to the top of the standings thanks to that victory.

Commercial fell behind early 4-0, then managed to come back and tie the score at 4-all in the fourth inning, but Canejo broke the knot with a four-run sixth inning spurt and never trailed after that inning.

Marty Knight pitched a masterful game for Canejo and took the win.

In other action, Polka Dot went into extra innings to edge Baum Funeral Home 7-6. In games the following day, Commercial Carriers defeated Polka Dot 5-4, as Brian Boc picked up the pitching victory via a six hits.

Canejo Trucking also kept pace by dropping Truck Rebuilders 10-2.

Commercial Carriers and Canejo have another game this Saturday, a make-up from an earlier rain-out. The game should decide the leader for the second half.

The Romulus South Big League team kept its undefeated record intact, 3-0, by downing Brownstown in back to back games, 5-4 and 3-2 last week. Mark Kelly, pitching for Romulus South on Tuesday, found the going rough, as South fell behind early in the contest.

However, a three run rally in the sixth, and two more runs in the seventh gave South the game.

South is the defending champion in the Suburban Big League.

Softball tourney needs teams

A softball tournament, designed for Class C teams only, is on the drawing boards at the Wayne Ford Civic League. In order for the tournament to be a reality, tournament manager Joe Cooley needs 16 teams.

The tournament will be staged over the July 4 weekend and the format is based on double elimination, (two losses and the team is out of the running.)

There is a $75 registration fee.

Further information may be obtained by telephoning Cooley at 721-4641 or 728-5117 or contacting Bob Ferrari at 421-0071.

The deadline to enter the tournament is June 21.

Wayne places 5 on all-league

Zebras have best record in Great Lakes 8

Great Lakes 8 Conference baseball coaches drafted five members of the record-establishing Wayne Memorial team for all-conference consideration.

The five: Pat Bledsoe, Doug McGill, Don Johnson, Bill Crews and Jim Canfield were among 14 honored by the coaches who made the final selections.

Others named to the team include Wally Garner (Taylor Truman) and Craig Vasileff (Fordson) as pitchers and Gene Bezeau (Monroe) and Jay Davis (Riverview) as catchers.

The all-league infield is made up of Gary Bashaw (Monroe) and Rob Eanes (Riverview) and Ron Burzycki (Wyandotte); the outfield consists of John Ray (Lincoln Park) and Mike Shafkalis (Taylor Center).

Bledsoe was one of the pitchers selected. He had won more league games (five) than any other hurler in the conference. He posted a 2.35 earned run average while fanning 42 batters.

The 6-3, 180-pound senior batted .314 in the league and knocked in nine runs, fourth best in the league. Bledsoe ends an outstanding career at Wayne, having starred in football, basketball and baseball. He has a full-ride scholarship to Eastern Michigan University.

Johnson also signed with EMU and his .395 batting average was third best in the league. Because of his 3-1 pitching record (in the league) and an 0.92 ERA plus 49 strikeouts, he wasn't voted the league's MVP. Johnson was named as an infielder.

McGill is a junior and he won the league batting championship with a .429 average. He alternated between second and third base on defense and contributed 21 hits, four triples and 10 RBI's in helping Wayne win the conference championship (12-2).

McGill also led the league in total bases with 21 and was second in slugging percentage (.633).

Crews, drafted by the Detroit Tigers recently and signed to a full-ride scholarship to EMU, will have to make a decision soon on what he wants to do—attend college or seek a professional career.

Bill's credentials include a .341 batting average which included 15 hits, two homers (the league's top) as well as 10 RBI's and 13 runs scored. He also stole seven bases. The 6-4, 180-pound athlete won his only start as a pitcher. He was named to the all-conference team as an outfielder.

Canfield's .414 batting average was his ticket to all-conference consideration. He was named as the team's designated hitter (DH). The 16-year-old junior had seven RBI's and played first base the second half of the season. As a pitcher he posted a 2-0 record and, he didn't give up an earned run this season.

Coaches in the league also honored Wayne Memorial's veteran mentor Jim Chronowski as the 1977 "Coach of the Year".

Nine players were selected for Honorable Mention. They included Wayne Memorial's Mike Paz and Tom Banner along with Seychell (Fordson), Ansel (Monroe), Martin (Taylor Center), Divito (Fordson), Rogoff (Monroe), Richards (Wyandotte) and Lambert (Taylor Center).

Dolphins to refine swim skills at summer camps

By GEORGE WHITEHEAD
Special Correspondent

Twenty-three swimmers from Wayne and Westland will attend swimming camps this summer, refining skills in a sport that is fast capturing the fancy of prep athletes—both male and female—at the two communities' high schools.

While at the camps, all at universities throughout the nation, the boys and girls will learn latest techniques, utilize the finest of training equipment, and participate in daily workouts with other swimmers from throughout the country.

Two Wayne High students will begin the trek next week as Julie Johnston heads for Columbia University in South Carolina, and Karl Staber heads for Furman University in Greenville, South Carolina.

Miss Johnston, a member of the Wayne girls' two-time Great Lakes Eight Conference championship squad, will spend the entire summer—working at and attending the Columbia camp.

Staber, one of four who helped Wayne High to its first Great Lakes Eight Conference championship, will attend camp at Furman. Others are Dave and George Mills, and Tom Brown.

The brother-sister duo of Harold and Dana Sleicher will spend a week at the famed Indiana University pool. Both swam on Wayne's victorious teams.

Divers from both Wayne Memorial High and John Glenn High will participate in the Michigan State University Diving Camp in August. Representing Wayne will be Susie Richardson and Scott Papke, while Sherri Smiley will carry the Glenn colors.

Michigan State University's Swim Camp attracted the largest contingent, with 13 from the two high schools.

Representing Coach Jim McPartlin's Wayne High girls' team are Teri Discher, Rene Whitson, and Kelly, Gretchen and Tracey Baterson.

Eight girls from Coach Jean Garbus' John Glenn squad have also chosen Michigan State. They are Denise Arbini, Peggy Bird, Kathy Mahakian, Michelle Kubiak, Marsha Kubiak and Daena Noel.

McPartlin coaches both the boys and girls' teams at Wayne Memorial, while Mrs. Garbus is the girls' team mentor at John Glenn.

that one today — was none other than Joe Louis who knocked out Jimmy Braddock in the eighth round to claim the world heavyweight boxing crown.

"We're remodeling our store," said Tony Andrews, owner of Kirk's Drugs on Main Street in Belleville and Minder's in Garden City, "and we found this newspaper stuck between the wood in the floor."

"The pictures of the Louis-Braddock fight really dominate the entire page and, you know I vaguely remember that fight," the 49-year-old Andrews said.

The page also contained pictures of a young and handsome Gene Tunney, a former world heavyweight champ who was among the celebrities at ringside.

The name of the newspaper that carried the story was the defunct Detroit Evening Times which shut its doors in 1960.

And, let me leave you with Murray Goodman's account of that final round — the eighth — in which Joe Louis became the new heavyweight champion of the world.

"They walked out briskly to mid-ring. Braddock chased Louis but his blows were wild. Braddock missed with a right and a left and Louis hit twice with lefts on Braddock's face. Louis knocked Braddock down with a terrific right to the jaw. It was a knockout after a minute and 10 seconds."

Thanks Tony for taking us back when fighters were real fighters.

Tri-River selects league's top golfers

Cherry Hill, undefeated Tri-River Conference tennis champ, placed five of its players on the all-conference team.

The team, picked by the coaches in the league, included Spartans' Jeff Gehm, Greg Tachior, Dale Drabicki, Mike Jugan and John Ondelko.

The coaches also named Bart Brunett (Southgate), Dan Kuderick (Southgate), Dan Wysocki (Riverside), Dave Skrbina (Riverside), Ralph Wiegmann (Crestwood) and Jim Brown (Schafer) to the team.

Cherry Hill finished the 1977 campaign with a perfect 12-0 league record and won 16 of its 17 matches. The Spartans earned their first regional co-championship and scored four points at the state finals.

The league's standings were: Cherry Hill (12-0), Riverside (9-3), Crestwood (7-5), Southgate (6-6), Garden City West (5-7), Schafer (3-9), Taylor Kennedy (0-12).

Barracudas seeking swimmers

The Westland Barracudas, an age-group AAU swim club, launched the 1977 campaign last week against the Garden City Parks and Recreation club.

Westlander Lisa Hayes checked in with three first places as she won the 50-yard butterfly, 50-yard backstroke and the 100-yard individual medley.

Stan Kane, also of Westland, captured top honors in the 100-yard breaststroke, while Dana Sleicher touched in first for the 100-yard breaststroke. Teammate Jim Souilliere was the top performer in both the 100-yard backstroke, the 100-yard breaststroke and the 50-yard butterfly.

The Barracudas' mixed 200-yard freestyle relay team of D. Luckett, D. Souilliere, M. Kubiak and D. Wickline also placed first.

The Barracudas are coached by Jerry Garbus who said he is seeking new recruits for the team.

Those interested must be between the ages of six and 18 and reside in either Wayne, Westland or Canton. Registration for the AAU swim program will be held on June 24 in the Continuing Education Offices at Wayne Memorial High School.

En route to state crown

Inkster's Kim Willis clears one of the hurdles that stood in her way to capturing the Class B state 110-yard hurdles' championship. Miss Willis, a junior at Southgate Aquinas, was clocked in a record-setting 14.7 at Comstock, site of the state finals. She also placed sixth in the state in the long jump with a leap of 17 feet, 3 inches.

Burghuff's is 'untouchable' in Wayne Class B softball

Burghuff's appears "untouchable" in the Wayne Class B First Division Men's Softball League.

Pounding sixth place Long's Service 23-3 last week, the league-leading Burghuff's stretched its winning streak to nine games. They're the only undefeated team in either of the Class B divisions.

Dean Minton, former All-Area ball player from Wayne Memorial, hit for the cycle for the winners as he hammered a homer, triple, double and single which accounted for two runs batted in.

Burghuff's Norm Beasley also belted a homer and singled for two RBI's while Dave Conlin, Ron Hays and Dave Seaman each had three hits.

Ron Hays and Bill Weston divided up pitching duties for the league leaders.

Long's, tagged for 23 hits, got two hits each from Pat Marchionda, Roy Todd, Don Farmer and Dan Morton. Rick Todd hurled 3 and two-thirds innings before George Grzech finished up.

Meanwhile, Fiddle Bar lost ground on Burghuff's as it dropped a narrow 10-9 decision to Garden City Sporting Goods. Garden City rallied for two runs in the top of the seventh, then held on to win their fourth game in eight starts.

Charlie Taylor gave up 16 hits, four to Jim Hubbs, to receive credit for the victory. He was also touched for three singles by Dave Stewart and two by Gary Schewe.

Rick Goodlow latched on to three singles, while mates Jack Kline, George Bailey, John Rothermel and Bob Augustine each drilled two off of loser Dennis Cowell who was tagged for 19 hits.

Club Canton stayed in a two-way tie for second with the Fiddlers as it routed Long's 11-5 thanks to Del St. Antoine's eight hit pitching performance. Terry Magnuson homered for the winners while Dan Sowa, Paul Lambert and Garry Gesch each socked two hits.

Reason to smile

Unrated and overlooked most of the high school track and field season, Wayne Memorial's John Smith has an excellent reason to smile. The enigmatic Mona Lisa grin is because of his outstanding performance at the Class A state finals where the Wayne senior captured a second place after tossing the shot 53 feet, 8 inches to finish behind only one other athlete, Redford Union's Mike Petch. Petch won the gold with a toss of 56 feet, 9 inches.

Belleville North 2nd best at Jr. High championships

Claiming four of the 14 first places, Belleville North came within five points of winning the annual West Suburban Junior High Track Championships at Belleville last week.

North garnered 60 points, four less than Dearborn Heights Hoston whose 64 points gave it the team championship outright. Dearborn's O.W. Best finished third in the field of eight, followed by Belleville South (51½), Radcliff (45), Cambridge (38½), Burger (34) and Vogel (7).

North captured the mile relay with a 3:53.79, while Abraham contributed two first places. He won the mile run in 5:07.31, and came back with a toss of 47 feet, 11¼ feet to take the shot put.

3 Westland gals' softball teams sport perfect records

If they don't alter their paths soon, Studio Lounge, VFW Bova Post and Johnnie Shell's are due for a showdown in Westland women's softball league.

Though Studio, the defending champ, has a slim lead thanks to playing more games, all three teams are undefeated on the season. Studio sports a 5-0 record, while Bova Post and Johnnie's are close behind with 4-0 marks.

Studio had little trouble with fourth place Crestwood Dodge as the champs handed their rivals a 29-5 setback, the first of the season for the Dodge gals.

Lynn Anderson belted four doubles and homered to personally account for 11 of Studio's runs batted in. Studio also received an excellent effort from "Speedy" McIntosh who laced four singles and a double, driving home seven runs.

Studio's Sharon Terflinger counted a homer, a couple of doubles and a single in her four appearances at the plate. She also had six RBI's.

Miss Terflinger, the winning pitcher, served up a homer and a pair of singles to Coleen Dittmar. Arlene Bozyk was the only other player to collect two hits off of the Studio hurler.

Bozyk, the losing pitcher, was hit hard by the winners who assembled a 40-hit assault on the Dodge pitcher.

In other action, Johnnie's stayed perfect with an 8-1 victory over the Power Packs as winning pitcher Marie Fletcher came within an inning of posting a rare shutout. Fletcher gave up an unearned run in the bottom of the seventh and two hits to Cris Pacer.

Johnnie's meanwhile struck for three runs in the first inning and put four more on the board in the fourth to claim its fourth triumph. Joy Knapp, who had three RBI's, and Janine Croskey split six of the 19 hits between them.

Bova Post didn't need to sweat in its fourth triumph thanks to a forfeit victory over Douglas which failed to come up with the required number of players at game time.

Westway Trucking blanked Douglas 11-2 earlier in the week behind an eight-hit pitching effort by Laura LaCroix and a 20-hit attack. Linda Lindstrom led the assault on loser Carol Kessler as she drilled two homers, singled and doubled for four RBI's. Teammate Colleen Knoll picked up four RBI's and also doubled twice and singled.

Stake your future on a company that's both National and Neighborly.

CENTURY 21 Real Estate is one of the fastest growing real estate companies in America, and we're inviting you to join us and grow with us.

From license training to financial success, CENTURY 21 will help you every step of the way.

- If you do not have a real estate license, you'll attend the finest pre-license training school.
- Our placement service will help match you to the real estate office that is right for you.
- As a CENTURY 21 salesman you'll receive in-depth sales training to help you achieve success.
- You'll be backed by national advertising.
- With CENTURY 21 the nation is your market place. You'll have the advantage of a national referral system that is second to none.
- You will work with the finest tools—brochures, films, etc.
- Because every office is locally owned and operated, your manager is personally interested in your community and in your success.

We're National, but we're Neighborly.

TIPS FOR SUMMER COOK OUTS

Easy Grill Clean-Up: Before using barbecue grill each time, brush it lightly with salad oil, bacon grease or fat trimmings from meat you're about to cook. The oil or fat will make clean-up easier and will help prevent foods from sticking to grill during cooking.

Ways To Increase And Decrease Heat On Grill: To increase the heat, lower the grill (or raise fire bed), open all drafts, stack coals closer together, or add more coals warm; then move into center of pile. To decrease the heat, raise the grill, spread coals apart, or move coals out from a circle around it instead of under it.

Barbecue Tong: When handling meat on a grill, use tongs. If you stick meat with a fork you only allow the juices to escape, and with them a large amount of flavor. Also, before placing meat on grill, score the edges. This will help prevent the meat from curling during cooking. Also trim any excess fat off the meat to prevent grease "flare-ups."

Tips For Barbecuing:

Line bottom of barbecue with heavy-duty aluminum foil to make cleaning easier and to reflect and conserve heat. Start fire about an hour ahead to ensure a good bed of coals. Lump charcoal may be used, but you may find that compressed charcoal briquets are easier to handle.

Use newspaper or thin packing crate wood to get fire going. Electric starters may be used if an electric outlet is nearby.

Coals should have a gray ash over them when ready. At night, the red glow of the coals can be seen. Spread the bed slightly wider than the area to be used for broiling. Unless otherwise noted, food should be 4 to 5 inches above fire. A shallow bed is fine for grilling; rotisserie cooking needs a deeper bed. Keep water handy in a sprinkler or bottle, if necessary, to douse flare-ups.
